SHOOT DOWN 29 REBEL PLANES IN BIG BATTLE

130 in Clash; 4 Lost by Loyalists.

BULLETIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, July 18.—Spanish loyalist airmen today shot down 29 insurgent planes with a loss of only four loyalist machines, according to an official communique. The planes were downed in the civil war's biggest air battle, which was fought over the town of Brunete, west of Madrid. From 130 to 140 planes took part. Fifty-one insurgent planes have been shot down since the seizure of Brunete twelve days ago. The government loss has been thirteen planes, according to official figures.

GEN. JOSE VARELA'S HEADQUARTERS ON MADRID FRONT, July 18.—From an advanced observation post in a church tower of Navalcarnero [junction town 18 miles southwest of Madrid] this correspondent has just watched a large scale aviation operation in which 89 airplanes of Gen. Francisco Franco's forces participated against the trenches of the Brunete salient, held by Madrid troops. The spectacle of a bombing and machine gunning attack by 89 planes revolving against a background of El Escorial and the Guadarrama mountains [north of Madrid] was one of grand and sinister beauty.

Navalcarnero lies about 7 miles south of Brunete in open country running up to the mountains.

As this correspondent, escorted by a major of Franco's insurgent army, watched from the church tower post, suddenly burning out of the sky appeared three huge bombers droning at 8,000 feet and steering toward the east. Four thousand feet above them was a fleet of 36 fighter planes flying in echelons of three while two observers rode in the skies still higher.

No Madrid Plane Appears.

This flying circus of 41 planes whirred ominously into the blue haze above the mountains, and turned back toward the Madrid-Valencia army positions at Brunete. At the peak of the bulge in the line they dropped four and a half tons of bombs with deadly accuracy which was revealed by sound and smoke.

The fighter planes protected the bombers from above, but it was needless, for not a single Madrid plane came to give combat. The three bombers circled, returned and dropped a final lot of bombs and then the whole fleet made for the west.

Meanwhile Madrid's anti-aircraft guns were speckling the sky with patches of smoke. They fired about 30 to 34 shots a minute and 2,000 patches soon were visible.

18 More Bombers Arrive.

Hardly had the three heavy bombers and 36 chasers disappeared when eighteen more of Gen. Franco's light bombers, each carrying 700 pounds of bombs, appeared and made a beeline for the target of Brunete. They were protected by 20 fighters flying above them. Madrid's anti-aircraft artillery shot warily in pounding and echoing cannonades, while dust splashes bounded from the earth as the planes' bombs struck.

The final phase of this powerful air operation came with ten of Franco's fighters putting in an appearance 10 minutes later, after the last bombers had retired to the west.

Roar Down Near Trenches.

They flew low, then dipped to 300 feet above Brunete and opened a full spray of crackling machine gun fire

SURGEONS FIGHT TO SAVE HEROIC BANDIT SLAYER

Wounded three times in a desperate gun fight with a PAROLED CONVICT and an ex-convict, Lige Debowski, 42 years old, 4644 Sheridan road, was putting up a stout battle for his life with the aid of blood transfusions in the County hospital last night. Whether or not Debowski survives he has more than evened the score. He killed one of his foes, an identified murderer. He probably fatally wounded the other.

The shooting occurred late Saturday night in the Robins liquor store at 1007 Leland avenue when the two outlaws attempted a robbery. Debowski, an intended victim, disarmed one of the bandits and fatally wounded him. Then he shot the other in an exchange of bullets at close range in which he himself was felled.

Victim an Old-time Bandit.

The slain bandit was George Carson, alias Sharkey, ex-convict, murderer, and old-time gangster. His wounded partner was Edmund Blut, alias Fred Hardy, parolee, robber, and hit and run auto killer.

Police elation over the fates of Bandits Carson and Blut was tempered by the critical condition of Debowski. Not a policeman but a chef, Debowski was being hailed by police last night as a courageous citizen. For his bravery Debowski merits the thanks of the entire city, declared Chief of Detectives John L. Sullivan.

Police Sympathy Keen.

So keen was police sympathy for Debowski that when it became known that blood transfusions were necessary to save his life, a dozen patrolmen and detectives from the Town Hall station, in whose district the shooting occurred, promptly volunteered. Their blood was not needed, however, for the hospital physicians used stored blood.

The storage of blood at the County hospital is a recent practice. The blood is obtained from relatives of patients requiring transfusions and the surplus donations are put away in a special refrigerator at a temperature just above freezing. The refrigerated blood is good for at least two weeks. It is always first tested for diseases and then labeled as to its type.

Valuable Minutes Lost.

By having this tested and typed blood on hand physicians are able to complete transfusions without delay. Debowski received a transfusion at the moment it was needed instead of having to wait precious hours for donated fresh bood to be tested and classified for his type. Even as it was, police said last night, Debowski had lost valuable minutes in his fight for life.

Immediately after the shooting Debowski was taken to the Lakeview hospital, 4420 Clarendon avenue, where his three wounds, one in the abdomen, were cauterized. The doctors also gave treatment to stop bleeding. However, Lieut. Romaine Goudie and Sergt. Michael Ahern, believing that the hero needed more medical aid, asked the physicians to operate. They refused to do so without the assurance of a fee, according to the policemen, and as a result Debowski lost one hour and twenty minutes in the Lakeview hospital be-

Bar Wrecked; Carrie Nation? No, Just Elmer

Following in the footsteps of Carrie Nation, another Kansan went out tavern smashing in Chicago yesterday, a bit unsteadily and for a different reason; he'd had too many drinks.

He is Elmer Enlow of Lawrence, Kas. He's 21 and, he says, a student at the University of Kansas.

Elmer Enlow [above] took auto at 1, smashed into tavern window at 2, rammed laundry window at 3, was arrested at 4.

When Elmer set out to follow in the celebrated woman prohibitionist's footsteps he felt that he should do it in the modern manner. And so, as Policeman Edward F. Gerrity told it, the young man went to the Broadway garage at 4072 Broadway and got a car to ride in.

Takes New Jar.

He didn't exactly buy it, Garrity said. He just put his hand rather menacingly into his pocket and told the attendant, George Panoff:

"This is a stickup. I want that car."

Then Elmer started out to do his tavern smashing.

Mistake! Smashes Laundry.

Backing gravely out, Elmer hurried on. But the next window he drove through, at 4133 Broadway, was a disappointment. Once inside, Elmer found out he was in a laundry and not a tavern.

On he went, but he didn't find any more taverns. He was talking to an old gentleman at Broadway and Buena avenue when the policeman came along. The old gentleman said Elmer was trying to hold him up, but the policeman said Elmer probably was inquiring about taverns. Just the same, the policeman arrested Elmer.

Elmer said his pa, Alfred Enlow, would pay for the damage. Police said Elmer's dad, a retired farmer, said my, he couldn't understand Elmer, when they telephoned him. He'd punish him, the elder Enlow said, but not too much.

STRIKE FORCES SHIP LINE TO QUIT AFTER 90 YEARS OF SERVICE

Fall River, Mass., July 18.—(AP)—Suspension of the Fall River Line, which has been operating between this city and New York for 90 years, was announced today by General Agent John F. Clark of the New England Steamship company.

Ending a strike called last Tuesday in what the company said was a jurisdictional fight between two unions, 250 members of the steamer Commonwealth crew left the ship peaceably after Clark announced:

"The line has suspended operations. There is no more strike."

The Priscilla, other ship on the Fall River line which became famous in song and story, was tied up in New York. Clark said the company would provide transportation to crew members of the Commonwealth living in New York.

40 SEEK LICENSE FOR ONE TAVERN; HAS 3,000 PATRONS

Milwaukee, Wis., July 18.—[Special.]—Forty persons have applied for the one tavern which will be permitted in Greendale, the model government homes project in Waukesna county. It is the most sought after monopoly of the village, W. L. Mellett, assistant coördinator of the federal housing project, said today.

Thirty-four per cent of the prospective citizens of Greendale voted recently that a taver is a necessity.

Greendale will provide about 3,000 persons for its one tavern. The average in Milwaukee is one for every 400 of the population.

Tries to Wake Farmhand with Gun; Kills Him Instead

Jamestown, N. Y., July 18.—(AP)—Harry Sanford, a farmhand, was killed today when Milton Hultman, 13, prodded him with a shotgun to wake him up and the gun discharged.

Lansing, Ia., July 18.—[Special.]—Dr. Jean Piccard, stratosphere balloonist, and brother of the more celebrated Dr. Auguste Piccard, took off with a bang at Rochester, Minn., early this morning and landed in a blaze near here about breakfast time. The air distance is about 75 miles. The flight lasted six hours. Dr. Piccard says most of his experiment was conducted at an altitude between 10,000 and 11,000 feet.

The flight was experimental because Dr. Piccard wanted to see whether a cluster of small hydrogen filled balloons would give him more lift and would be easier to handle than a single large one. He fastened some 95 rubber bags, about four feet in diameter, to a special gondola shaped like a bathtub. In the car was a two-way, ultra-short wave radio, scientific instruments, and a pistol.

Starts with a Boom.

To set off his flight to the best advantage, Dr. Piccard decided to blow himself loose from his mooring lines at Rochester. This was accomplished by dynamite caps. There were some reports that the blasting material was TNT. Whatever it was, it worked, and the flight was on at 1:08 Chicago time this morning.

The method of his descent was equally picturesque. About daylight the doctor began losing altitude and decided to come down. He cut some of the balloons, hanging like an inverted cluster of grapes above the gondola, loose with his sheath knife. They caught in the ones above. Then he began pulling balloons down, one at a time, and stabbing them with the knife. He lost altitude.

But as he neared the earth he felt that his descent was not sufficiently rapid, so he took the pistol and began picking them off. He "killed about a dozen," he said today. He added that he did not release the last cluster until he had nearly touched the ground. He landed in the tops of a clump of trees, bumped on down to earth, and clambered out of the gondola as flames enveloped it.

Fire Destroys Instruments.

The fire melted the metal car and destroyed the instruments it contained. Dr. Piccard said the fire might have been caused by a "blast of TNT" with which he loosed the top half of his balloon cluster when he started down. There were some who felt the doctor's wing-shooting may have been responsible.

The landing, which came about at

Soviet Envoy's Recall Leaves Void in Capital

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—The departure of Alexander Antonovich Troyanovsky, Russian ambassador, and Mrs. Troyanovsky for Moscow has left a serious void in official Washington.

Adding to the gloom is the report that the Troyanovskys, because of conditions over which they have no control, will not return to Washington. A great deal of guessing on the possible reasons for a change in the soviet representation here is going on. Some think that Troyanovsky failed to satisfy Stalin that he was promoting communism in America with sufficient aggressiveness. Others think the ambassador shocked Stalin with the cost of entertaining the American bourgeoisie.

Notable for Lavishness.

Truth to tell, the Troyanovskys have been notable chiefly for the lavish scale of their entertaining. They have given more dinners, teas, receptions, musicales, and other social affairs than all the other embassies put together. At each of these affairs they have entertained more guests than have other hosts on comparable occasions. Where the bigwig of Washington society invites several score of guests, the soviet embassy invites several hundred.

It was a staggering bill for entertaining that the Troyanovskys ran up. It was assumed they had been commissioned by the Soviet government to go the limit. At dinners and receptions the food served ran the gamut of delicacy.

One of the principal attractions in the food line was the caviar. Nobody in Washington ever had seen so much caviar before, let alone permitted to consume it without stint. It appeared in huge mounds on great cakes of ice and all comers were allowed to help themselves with silver scoops the size of a hen's egg.

Liquor on Same Scale.

Liquors were served on the same scale. At a large reception there would be two or three bars on each of the three floors of the glittering embassy housed in the old Pullman mansion. The popping of champagne corks gave the impression of indoor fireworks. Genuine Russian vodka flowed in the same fashion as the water it resembles. Scotch, bourbon and rye were always to be had in unlimited quantities.

Publication recently of pictures of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Lewis descending the grand stairway of the embassy in evening dress at the reception to the Russian aviators has caused much comment. That Lewis, who is being groomed by the communists for presidential candidate in 1940, should be a prominent guest at the Soviet embassy was recognized as wholly natural.

Radicals Hold no Monopoly.

It does not follow, however, that the Troyanovskys catered to radicals in their entertaining. It may be that radicals such as Senator Robert M. La Follette, Smith Brookhart, Secretary of Labor Perkins, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and Senator Ernest Lundeen of Minnesota were seen there oftener than others, but it

CHINESE AGREE TO QUIT PEIPING FIGHTING ZONES

Pact Developed at Tientsin Parley.

BULLETIN.

TOKIO, July 19 (Monday)—(AP)—The Japanese government today announced officially that heavy concentrations of Chinese troops had been made near Peiping, constituting a direct act of aggression against Japan.

PEIPING, China, July 19 [Monday.]—(AP)—The Chinese 29th Route army prepared today to retreat southward from Yungting river positions through Changhsintien, three miles southwest of Peiping, after reports from Tientsin said a peaceful settlement of the North China crisis had been reached. Four thousand Chinese troops were hastily repairing roadways and 6,000 Chinese civilians were evacuated.

Foreign observers expressed the opinion Chinese resistance to Japanese demands in the North China trouble was broken after learning from Tientsin that Japanese officials and Gen. Sung Cheh-yuan, chairman of the Hopeh-Chahar political council and commander of the 29th army, had reached an agreement.

Chinese guards on the walls of Wangpinghsien and Japanese troops in the vicinity of the city exchanged rifle fire for several hours yesterday after the settlement was reached.

Foreigners who visited the region today reported highways in the vicinity of Wangpinghsien were mined and big barricades had been erected, the little walled city apparently fearing a Japanese attack.

FIRE ON CHINESE TRAINS

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, July 19 [Monday].—As Japan awaited China's reply to an ultimatum demanding a halt to the movement of Chinese troops and air squadrons northward the Nanking government today received reports that Japanese planes had made three separate attacks on Chinese trains along the Peiping-Hankow railway.

The ultimatum and attacks followed soon after Japanese officials announced at Tientsin that the ranking Chinese official in the north had accepted verbally the principal demands for settlement of the crisis.

Reach "Local" Settlement.

The "local settlement" reported by the Japanese from Tientsin evolved from a meeting of Gen. Sung Cheh-yuan, chairman of the Hopei-Chahar political council and commander of Chinese forces in North China with Lieut.-Gen. Kiyoshi Katsuki, the Japanese commander.

The Japanese asserted Gen. Sung apologized for the "Lukowkiao incident"—the clash between Japanese troops and part of the Chinese 29th army west of Peiping the night of July 7,—and expressed the regrets of the Hopei-Chahar council.

With regard to the second demand, withdrawal of Chinese troops, the Japanese said they had accepted Gen. Sung's oral assurances that his 29th army would evacuate the area west of Peiping. On the other hand Japanese refused to withdraw from Lukowkiao until Nanking troops are completely withdrawn from Hopei province.

Minor Officers to Be Dismissed.

To meet a third demand, for punishment of Chinese responsible for the "Lukowkiao incident," Gen. Sung promised, according to the Japanese, that he would dismiss several officers below the rank of regimental commanders.

The Japanese further had demanded suppression of anti-Japanese activities and communism. Gen. Sung, it is claimed, informed the Japanese that suppression of communism and anti-Japanism always had been his policy.

While Gen. Sung refused to sign anything, the Japanese were said to feel that his promises met Japan's demands. Maj-Gen. Gun Hashimoto, Gen. Katsuki's chief of staf, and Gen. Chang Tze-chung, mayor of Tientsin, were charged with arranging for execution of details.

Await Dictator's Answer.

Gen Chiang Kai-shek, dictator of China, was expected to reply late today to Japan's ultimatum demanding a halt to troop movements. The text of the ultimatum was not made public, but the British and American embassies were informed of its nature.

The Japanese, in discussing the ultimatum, declared they had patiently tried to arrive at a local settlement of incidents in North China, but that the Chinese had perservered in a provocative attitude.

The Japanese "deplored" such a threat to the "stability of North China" and said that if the situation is allowed to develop, it may lead to "grave and unfathomable consequences" since the Chinese government repeatedly has stated it does not wish to aggravate the situation.

The first attack on a train took place at 11:30 a. m. yesterday near the town of Changhochiao in Honan province. Two Japanese planes sprayed the train with machine gun fire. Two persons were killed and a number wounded.

At noon at Kwanchuangtsan, in southern Hopei province, a southbound passenger train was machine gunned by Japanese planes and there were more than ten casualties.

The third attack was at 12:30 p. m. near the town of Yuanszehsien in southern Hopei and more than ten persons were killed and wounded.

The Nanking foreign office protested to the Japanese after the first attack charging violation of Chinese sovereignty and territorial rights. The protest demanded an immediate halt to such attacks and said the Japanese would be held responsible.

The Japanese Domei [semi-official] news agency's report of the planes' activities declared that while a plane was engaged in photographing a troop train it was fired on and retaliated.

More Troop Trains Arrive.

The Nanking foreign office reported that 17 Japanese troop trains crossed the Corean border into Manchukuo yesterday, and that 30,000 Japanese troops are enroute to North China from Corea and Manchukuo, including the Japanese 20th division.

More Japanese troop trains arrived yesterday at Tientsin from Manchukuo. It is estimated that 12,000 troops already have arrived in North China to reinforce the regular garrison of 7,000.

It is reported that the Japanese have taken over large tracts of land near Tientsin to establish airdromes. Chinese port cities are jammed with Japanese refugees from the interior.

A group of Japanese gendarmes and civilians entered the Tientsin central postoffice today and demanded the right to censor southbound mails. The Chinese in charge declared he would have to refer the matter to the Nanking directorate general of posts. The Japanese left after some hours without touching the mails.

Nanking Moves Carefully.

NANKING, July 18.—(AP)—A survey of trustworthy information today indicated that the Chinese central government is making no real military dispositions to fight Japan in North China.

What military movements have been carried out, according to experienced foreign observers, have been only to satisfy China's own fire-eaters and at the same time avoid giving Japan an excuse for territorial occupation in the north.

These observers agreed that reports of huge troop movements toward the north emanated largely from Japanese sources and for the purposes of the Japanese army.

The Japanese, it was asserted, were trying to give the world the impression they were acting in self-defense in moving their enlarged expedition into Hopei province.

Foreign travelers arriving from the north reported passing only one Chinese troop train north of Hsuchowfu, in northern Kiangsu province, and said there were no abnormal Chinese concentrations anywhere.

War Machine Unprepared.

Foreigners with long experience in China called erroneous the impression which apparently has gained currency abroad that China at last was ready to challenge Japan and fight a war in Hopei.

The Chinese military machine still is far from ready, in the view of non-Chinese military experts. Many of its parts do not fit together. German gun carriages do not go with Czechoslovakian guns. French cartridges are useless with British rifles. Italian trained aviators do not understand the American planes they are asked to fly.

Russian or Japanese trained army officers do not understand tactics or strategy which should be used in their own country. Personal jealousies permeate the high command.

Gen. Chiang Kai-shek (top), Chinese dictator, must decide whether agreement reached yesterday between Gen. Sung (center), his subordinate, and Lieut. Gen. Katsuki, Japanese army commander, ending present Japanese-Chinese crisis, is to become final.

JAPANESE LAUD "BROAD VIEW" OF SECRETARY HULL

TOKIO, July 18.—(AP)—The Japanese press today hailed the July 16 statestood for observance of international agreements and respect by all other nations for the rights of others.

ment of United States Secretary of State Cordell Hull as showing that the American government's understanding of the far eastern situation has "improved" in recent years.

Hull's statement, issued after the Chinese ambassador to Washington, D. C., had called attention to "the threat by Japan" in North China, was couched in general terms and avoided specific mention of Japan or China.

on the trenches, roaring down and sputtering and then dashing up while loyalist cannons tried in vain to put a quietus on them with shrapnel. The whole show lasted more than an hour.

Rebel Troops Batter Brunete.

MADRID, July 18.—(AP)—Insurgent air and ground forces smashed at government positions on the front west of Madrid today in a drive to regain lost territory.

Insurgent troops, strongly reinforced by thousands of men rushed to the Brunete salient by Generalissimo Francisco Franco, launched an attack on government trenches after artillery shelled the defenders. The government claimed this insurgent offensive was repulsed.

The insurgent drive brought into action a large number of tanks, leading waves of infantry in an attempt to capture government trenches in the vicinity of Brunete and Villanueva del Pardillo, about 18 miles west of Madrid.

Two Tanks Destroyed.

Hand grenades hurled by the defenders destroyed two tanks, the government said, and drove the others back.

Coincidental with the powerful attack in the Brunete sector, the insurgents battered at the government forces defending Quijorna, Villanueva del Pardillo, and the University City sector of Madrid.

Insurgent troops near Valfermoso de las Monjas on the Guadalajara front maneuvered to envelope government troops. The government claimed all of these attacks were repulsed.

At Valencia, Manuel Azana, president of the Spanish government, marked the beginning of the second year of the civil war with a speech protesting against "invasion of our country by foreign powers."

REPORT A QUAKE IN N. Y., BUT IT'S BELATED FOURTH

New York, July 19 [Monday].—Police telephone lines were busy early today with calls from scores of persons reporting that their houses had been shaken by an "earthquake," accompanied by a distant rumbling.

Investigation indicated, however, that the "earthquake" was caused by a fireworks celebration at Hollis Circle, a tiny community in Nassau county, about three miles from the New York City line. Nassau county police officials said that a permit had been issued for a fireworks display in Independence park there, but that they did not know the occasion for "all the shooting" of fireworks.

All reports of the "tremors" were received from the Queens area, except for a few calls from Staten Island and one from Brooklyn. A northeasterly wind, it was believed, may have carried the rumblings and air vibrations to Staten Island.

WAR NEEDS PUSH SPAIN TO BEST CROPS IN YEARS

Farmers Make Most of Small Acreage.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 18.—While most of Europe is suffering from drouth and many parts face famine or near-famine conditions, the loyalist government of Spain claims that the sections of the country which it controls will have the best harvest in their history.

The reason for this, it is claimed, is neither exceptional weather nor exceptional luck, but strenuous efforts by the government to aid and encourage farmers.

For the first time in their lives, most of the farmers in loyalist territory have their own bits of land, and as a result they are working like beavers, partly to benefit themselves and partly because they feel that a government victory is the only way to keep what they have, according to loyalist leaders.

Reject Collectivization.

One of the most important decisions taken by the government, in the opinion of observers, was the decision against forcible collectivization.

Communists, who knew the grim resistance which the Russian peasants made against collectivization, advised against such a move in Spain. Anarchists and other ultraradicals had demanded it.

In the few districts in which land was collectivized the peasants sulked and refused to work. As a result, the attempt was dropped.

The Spanish peasant's one idea of the revolution was that it gave him land. The government's claim now is that by giving peasants land, it turned them from doubters to enthusiastic supporters of the army.

Distribute Fertilizer.

Thousands of tons of fertilizer and seed have been distributed below cost and in many cases without any charge whatever. Loans totaling $29,167,000 were granted by the government through the ministry of agriculture. Seed totaling 7,687 tons was distributed, mostly on credit and at less than cost.

Partly as a result of this aid and partly because of a 4 per cent increase in the area sown, the wheat harvest this year is expected to be 11,698,000 metric quintals—a 15 per cent increase [a metric quintal is 220.46 pounds].

The barley crop is expected to total 8,670,000 quintals, which would be a 14.6 per cent increase from last year. The area planted increased 7 per cent. The figures were announced by Vincent Uribe, minister of agriculture, as of July 1, and the forecasts probably are somewhat optimistic.

Has Irrigation System.

One factor in favor of the Spanish farmer in drouth years is that the country is so arid anyway that it has an elaborate system of irrigation handed down in some cases from the Romans.

In an unusually dry year it is necessary to be more careful than usual about water, but the farmers have a habit of getting along on a minimum. The chief problem now is said to be to get the harvest in.

"Shock brigades" have been organized and although in most cases they are clumsy and inexperienced, two volunteers or three women can do the work of a good harvest hand, farmers say. In many hospitals the convalescent soldiers are organizing groups to go into the fields.

Hundreds of coöperative farm organizations have sprung up. In Valencia province, 289 such organizations claim 50,000 members have been enrolled since organization work began last October.

The coöperative lends money for seed, tools, and fertilizer, and gives credit for food. Produce is sold to coöperatives, which then resells at large markets.

BRITISH VESSEL SEIZED BY REBELS; 2 WARSHIPS START MYSTERY DASH

LONDON, July 18.—(AP)—The admiralty announced today that the British merchant ship Candleston Castle, famous as a blockade runner under the name of Seven Seas Spray, had been "captured by an insurgent warship inside Spanish territorial waters."

A few hours after the merchantman's capture yesterday morning, the British battleship Royal Oak and the destroyer Basilisk sailed suddenly at full speed from St. Jean de Luz, France.

Officers at St. Jean de Luz expressed belief these movements were connected with the capture of the Candleston Castle, but in London an admiralty spokesman said: "We see no reason to connect the two events." At the admiralty it was understood the Candleston Castle was being escorted by insurgent warships to Ferrol, on Spain's northwestern coast.

FEDERAL AGENTS ARREST GUNMAN IN BANK HOLDUPS

Raymond Driscoll, 41 years old, gunman and robber, sought for bank holdups in New Jersey and in Pennsylvania, was seized by federal bureau of investigation agents in Gary, Ind., yesterday morning. Policemen Peter Coleman and Harold Miller of the Gary force assisted in the capture.

Driscoll was found sleepy eyed just after he had arisen from bed, in the home of his brother, John Driscoll, at 607 West Ridge road. He made no attempt to resist. He was taken to Indianapolis bureau headquarters. H. H. Reinecke, head of the Indianapolis bureau, said Driscoll was wanted for bank robberies in Blairstown, N. J., and at Milford, Pa., in 1935.

Driscoll's record dates to 1917 when he was sentenced to prison in Montana for larceny. In 1921 he was sentenced to a reformatory in Kentucky for attempted bank robbery, and in 1928 to a prison in Tennessee for robbery.

CROWD MENACES FASCIST MOSLEY; COPS RESCUE HIM

SOUTHAMPTON, England, July 18.—(AP)—Sir Oswald Mosley, British Fascist leader, was taken to the safety of his hotel tonight in a barricaded tramcar, guarded by police, after a section of a crowd of 20,000 at an outdoor meeting demonstrated against him.

Tramseat cushions were used as barricades in the car, with police standing at each end of the platforms to prevent angry hecklers from boarding the car.

Trouble started as soon as the Fascist leader began his 45 minute speech. Police arrested four disturbers. One man tried to climb atop Sir Oswald's motor van, battling his aids. The man desisted when Fascists tore off his trousers.

Missils were hurled at Mosley during his speech and, when the ride back to his hotel began, one smashed a window.

Caesarian Operation with Scissors Lets Baby Live

Hamilton, O., July 18.—(AP)—A Cæsarian operation with a pair of "common scissors" saved the life of an eight pound boy after the death of the mother, Dr. Mark Millikin reported today. Mrs. James Still died unexpectedly, Dr. Millikin said. She was only 14 years old.

FRANK G. LOGAN, PATRON OF ARTS, IS DEAD AT 85

Founded Brokerage Firm; Ill Several Months.

Frank G. Logan, art patron and founder of the brokerage house of Logan & Bryan, died yesterday morning at his home at 1150 Lake Shore drive. He was 85 years old. Heart disease was the immediate cause of his death, which followed several months' illness.

With him when he died were his widow, Mrs. Josephine Hancock Logan, prominent as a benefactress of artists and musicians, and their three sons, Stuart, Waldo and Spencer H. Logan of New York City.

At the peak of his business career in 1901, Mr. Logan retired as head of the firm of F. G. Logan & Co., which then became Logan & Bryan. He advised others in the grain and stock commission business likewise to turn over the leadership of their offices to younger men upon reaching the age of 50.

Comes to Chicago When 19.

Born in Cayuga county, New York, he attended the Ithaca academy there and came to Chicago when 19 years old. He first was a dry goods clerk, but in 1876 got a job with a receiving house on the Board of Trade. A year later, with nothing but grit and ability for capital, he went into business for himself, founding the firm bearing his name.

His interest in art and his philanthropies, well known before his retirement, thereafter occupied most of his time. He became a trustee and later honorary president of the Art institute.

With Mrs. Logan he founded the Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan Art Institute medal and prizes in 1916. Since then he gave more than $76,000 in prizes, the money going to competing artists from all parts of the country.

Founds Chair at Beloit.

A trustee of Beloit college, Beloit, Wis., he founded the chair of anthropology and evolution and the Logan archæological museum there. The museum has sent several expeditions to Africa, Europe, and to pre-historic American sites seeking the cradle of the human race.

In addition to being one of the builders of Orchestra hall and a patron of the Chicago Civic opera, Mr. Logan demonstrated his divergent interests by aiding in the founding of the American College of Surgeons, and the research fund in pathology, surgery, and experimental medicine at the University of Chicago.

Awarded French Honor Cross.

In 1934 the French government awarded him the cross of the Legion of Honor in recognition of his contributions to art and science. For his expeditions to France and French Africa the Frech Academy decorated him with the Palms.

He was a member of many clubs and societies, including the Union League club and the Cliff Dwellers.

In addition to Mrs. Logan, Mr. Logan is survived by three sons, Waldo H. Logan, 1150 Lake Shore drive; Stuart Logan, 2344 Lincoln Park West, and Spencer H. Logan of Mamaroneck, N. Y. One son, Howard H. Logan, and a daughter, Mrs. Charles Munroe, are deceased.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the residence. Burial, in Oak Woods cemetery, will be private.

MUSIC FESTIVAL RESERVED SEATS ON SALE TODAY

Prices Are Low, So Entire Family May Attend.

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

Reserved seat tickets for the eighth annual Chicagoland Music Festival go on sale this morning.

Ever since the outpouring of 100,000 listeners at the first festival overtaxed the ability of the ticket sellers THE TRIBUNE has made sure that Chicagoland fans get their tickets early and easily.

That is the reason for placing the reserve tickets on sale today.

The festival—the most gigantic musical affair held anywhere in the world—will be presented at Soldiers' field on the night of Aug. 21. Sponsors of the big show hope that many thousands of those who will attend will take advantage of the early opening of the ticket sale.

Low Prices Maintained.

From the first THE TRIBUNE has kept the cost of festival attendance at 50 cents for reserved seats and 25 cents for general admission. This low price scale has been maintained in order that entire families may attend.

The tickets are handled through THE TRIBUNE'S Public Service bureaus. There are two of these. One is located at 1 South Dearborn street, the other in the lobby of Tribune Tower.

Tickets also may be purchased by mail.

Program to Be Described.

A 50 cent ticket calls for a reserved seat in the big stadium. The general admission, or 25 cent tickets, which are sold at the field on the night of the festival, admit one to a section but not to a reserved seat.

From day to day THE TRIBUNE will tell in detail of the program arranged for the festival. New features are presented each summer, but the concert of the massed bands, the big choruses, and the community singing is repeated each summer, each year, in a bigger and more inspiring fashion.

The one thing to remember today: Tickets are now on sale.

Ancient City of Sheba Found, Savant Claims

[Copyright, 1937, By the New York Times.]

PARIS, July 18.—Jules Barthoux, French archeologist, has just completed a successful expedition into Yemen during which he claims to have identified the ancient city of Sheba, according to a dispatch from Sana. Its ruins are so important that it will require much time to go through them afoot, the French savant declares.

PRESIDENT PUTS SELF AND PARTY IN GRAVE CRISIS

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—In congress this week President Roosevelt and the Democratic party will face a crisis of fateful import. Upon its outcome will hinge the fate of the administration and of the party.

Dr. Stanley High, who has said the President would seek to purge the party of old leaders.

The President's undertaking to subject the Supreme court to the will of the executive is recognized as presenting the greatest constitutional issue since slavery. By the same token the Democratic party now is menaced by the greatest danger of disunion since 1860, when it split on slavery. The question today is whether the Democratic party now is to be split on the issue of Mr. Roosevelt's proposed judiciary legislation.

Two Warring Factions.

There now seems to be little doubt that if the President succeeds in driving through congress his scheme to pack the Supreme court with members chosen to validate the laws he initiates his party will be definitly divided into two warring factions, one composed of liberal, radical, pro-Roosevelt Democrats, the other composed of conservative anti-Roosevelt Democrats. This split will influence profoundly the results of the 1938 congressional elections and the looming realignment of parties in 1940.

Only by suffering defeat himself in the supreme effort of his career up to date does it now seem possible for the President to save his party from disunion.

Failure to obtain passage of the judiciary bill, however, would be a staggering blow to the President's prestige, an ominous harbinger of loss of his control of his party and of the descent of the twilight upon his political career.

Hint Purge of Party.

In some quarters, to be sure, the impression is growing that Mr. Roosevelt is designedly driving toward a party split in order to purge the party of old line leadership that secretly or openly has opposed his radical social and economic policies and to consolidate in his following the radical elements of both the major parties.

That this party purge is a cardinal objective of the President's in his second term was asserted in a magazine article soon after the 1936 election by Stanley High, the President's campaign confidant and coadjutor. The authenticity of the article was repudiated by Mr. Roosevelt, but succeeding events have convinced many Democrats that Dr. High knew whereof he spoke.

With the bitterness and animosity of the struggle brought to a high pitch by the events following the sudden death of Senator Joseph T. Robinson, Democratic leader of the senate, last Wednesday, the opposing forces will face each other for the first showdown of strength in the Democratic party caucus on Wednesday to select the new leader.

In the main those Democratic senators who favor the court packing bill and the Roosevelt political philosophy in general will line up in support of Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky to succeed to the leadership. Those who are out of sympathy with the Roosevelt policies in general and oppose the court packing bill in particular will be found supporting Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi.

This will be the first battle of the internecine strife in which the Democratic party is embroiled. Election of Senator Barkley to the leadership would be a distinct victory for the President, though by no means a guarantee for future favorable action on his policies. Election of Senator Harrison would be a defeat for the President, prophetic of a waning of presidential influence in the senate.

Court Battle Next.

Then will come the big battle over the court packing issue. Both Senators Barkley and Harrison are supporters of the President's judiciary measure but in different degrees. Senator Barkley is no less ardent than the President in its support.

Senator Harrison, an innate conservative like Senator Robinson, merely has "gone along" with the President on this issue out of a sense of loyalty to the party leader. But he is known to abhor the menace of a party split on this issue and to prefer sidetracking the measure in the interest of preservation of party unity.

Election of Harrison would signalize the speedy recommitment of the court packing bill to the judiciary committee for permanent interment.

Barkley for Packing Bill.

Election of Barkley would mean a further attempt to put through the pending substitute bill for the gradual packing of the court, one member a year, or some modification thereof, even if it should be only a face saving proposition for the President, such as the suggestion that present members of the court be exempted from the terms of the act. That would postpone the packing of the court until some future appointees should reach the age of 75.

The bitterness pervading this party schism is indescribable. It has been accentuated enormously by the tactics pursued by the President since the death of Senator Robinson. Mr. Roosevelt recognized, as did almost every one else, that the death of the Democratic leader signalized the death of the court packing bill. If Robinson, with all his bulldog tenacity, resourcefulness, and popularity, could not put it through, nobody could. The movement for the shelving of the bill and the speedy adjournment of congress gained headway by leaps and bounds.

To stem this movement the President decided to break the truce declared till after the Robinson funeral.

Harrison Is Called In.

To excuse his breach of the truce he accused his opponents of breaking it. This angered the opposition senators, who pointed out that Mr. Roosevelt never had observed the period of mourning, having proclaimed through Senator Key Pittman [D., Nev.], less than eight hours after announcement of Robinson's death, that the fight for the court bill would go forward.

What angered the opposition more was Mr. Roosevelt's attempt to promote the selection of Barkley for majority leader. His letter demanding passage of the court bill he addressed to "My Dear Alben," as "acting majority leader," by virtue of the fact that Barkley had been chosen by Robinson as his assistant. The word sped through the senate that Barkley was Mr. Roosevelt's choice, and Senator Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.] and several others notified Harrison they now would be obliged to vote for Barkley.

Later in the day the President called in Harrison and assured him of presidential neutrality in the battle, which didn't mean much, inasmuch as Mr. Roosevelt already had accomplished his purpose of giving Barkley the benefit of administration support.

This ruckus, however, was as nothing compared to the resentment of the President's assertion in his letter that it is for the executive to state objectives and that it is the duty of congress to choose the methods for carrying them into effect. Under the constitution, it was pointed out, the President recommends and congress determines whether it is wise to adopt the recommendation.

RESIGNATION OF HEAD OF WILLIAMS COLLEGE KEPT SECRET 30 DAYS

Williamstown, Mass., July 18.—[Special.]—Impelled to issue a statement after seeing published reports that he soon would be dismissed, Dr. Tyler Dennett, president of Williams college since 1934, announced tonight that he had resigned a month ago and that his resignation had been accepted on July 9 at a meeting of the board of trustees in New York. It is understood that Dr. Dennett will be succeeded on Sept. 1 by James Phinney Baxter III., a graduate of Williams in 1914 and now associate professor of history at Harvard university. An intimate friend of Dr. Dennett, he was elected a permanent trustee of Williams last month after serving on the board as a representative of the alumni.

LILLYWHITE LAUNDRY

TELLS PRESIDENT REDS CONTROL 2 U. S. PROJECTS

Writers and Theater Units Are Under Fire.

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—Ralph M. Easley, chairman of the executive council of the National Civic federation, today made public a letter to President Roosevelt charging that members of the communist party, avowed supporters of the communist movement, and the left wing Workers' Alliance, an organization of unemployed, controled the personnel and supervision of the federal writers and theater projects.

Mr. Easley also charged, on the basis of what he termed careful investigation, that for the most part those employed on the projects never had earned their living at writing or in the theater.

"We have a complete record of the supervisory personnel of both the writers and theater projects and are prepared to prove their utter lack of qualification in every instance," Mr. Easley declared. He asked that an investigation be made.

Charges Inefficiency and Waste.

Mr. Easley also charged that both projects had been characterized by gross inefficiency and waste, that preference in employment was given to the controling groups that the Workers' alliance exacted tribute in the form of one week's pay from employés dismissed from their jobs as the price of reinstatement, and that "it has come to a point where work relief on the federal projects has been turned into an outright racket preying on the last earnings of unfortunates."

Detailed statistics in Mr. Easley's letter purported to show that members of the Workers' Alliance constituted 81 per cent of the employés of the writers project and that "members of the communist party or avowed supporters of the communist movement" numbered 42 per cent.

"Professional writers of experience," account for only 21 per cent, he said, "while people who never have made a living through writing, and have no record of ever publishing a line "fill 78 per cent of the jobs."

Calls Supervisors Communists.

Ninety per cent of the supervisors are "communists or avowed supporters of the communist movement," Mr. Easley charged.

On the federal theater project, Mr. Easley offered figures to show that 76 per cent of the employés belonged to the Workers' Alliance, while 38 per cent were members of the communist movement. Only 36 per cent of those employed were professional theatrical people of experience, with 64 per cent comprising "people who never before made a living in connection with theatrical activity," according to the figures.

Body Recovered from Lake as Wife Reports Mate Lost

The body of a man tentatively identified as James Crowley of 1515 Highland avenue was recovered from the lake at the Wilson avenue beach yesterday by Policeman Eric Olliger. Shortly afterward Mrs. Crowley asked police to search for her husband, missing ten days. She was asked to view the body.

80 QUESTIONED AND RELEASED IN HOTEL ATTACK

Eighty colored men had been seized yesterday in the search for the "big black man with the ugly flat nose" who raped and beat Mrs. Betty Bryant in her room at the Lorraine hotel, 411 South Wabash avenue, early Saturday. All were released after questioning.

Hardy Bryant, husband of the victim and former clerk at the hotel, returned to the city yesterday upon hearing of the attack. The rapist, who entered Mrs. Bryant's room from a fire escape, called her "Betty" and told her he knew her husband. Bryant said, after viewing all suspects, that he had no idea who the rapist might be. He said his wife was recuperating at St. Luke's hospital from the shock and the blow on the head she received from a building brick in the hand of her attacker.

MOURN ROBINSON AS POLITICIANS FIGHT FOR JOB

Lobbying Is Halted Only for Funeral.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Little Rock, Ark., July 18.—[Special.]—Arkansas bowed in mourning today for its most distinguished citizen, Senator Joseph Taylor Robinson, whose funeral services were conducted today in a brief pause in the violent political activity over the election of a new Democratic leader of the senate.

Friends of the late senator poured into Little Rock from the river bottoms and the hills of Arkansas, a few hundred of them to attend the funeral in the First Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and thousands more to pay their last respects at the flower bowered rotunda of the state capitol, where the body lay in state for two hours.

Hundreds May Lose Jobs.

The mourning of at least 1,500 of these people was tinged with apprehension for the future, for they are federal officials and employés appointed by Senator Robinson. They fear, it is said, that Senator Hattie Caraway will not be so active in their behalf and that the new senator, if Gov. Carl E. Bailey names one before he himself makes the race for the regular term, will be hostile. Senator Robinson and Gov. Bailey were not political friends.

The nation was represented at the funeral by thirty-eight United States senators, twenty-three representatives, Vice President John N. Garner, Postmaster General James A. Farley, Bernard M. Baruch, New York capitalist; Harvey Couch, Arkansas utilities magnate; Charles G. Dawes of Chicago, former Vice President and presiding officer of the senate, and Patrick J. Hurley, secretary of war in President Hoover's cabinet.

Resent Roosevelt's Absence.

There is widespread disappointment and much talk in Little Rock over President Roosevelt's failure to come to the funeral of the man who labored so zealously for the administration's legislative program. Arkansas friends of the late senator express the belief that he gave his life for the President's proposal to pack the Supreme court.

They recall that Mr. Roosevelt attended the funeral of the late Speaker Henry T. Rainey and that of Speaker Joseph W. Byrns.

The political activity on the part of Farley and two other lobbyists for the President, Assistant Attorney General Joseph B. Keenan and Interior Undersecretary Charles O. West, hardly ceased long enough for the funeral. Farley's first mission after going to mass was an effort to persuade Gov. Bailey to appoint a new temporary senator immediately, one who could be counted upon to support the court packing scheme.

Prepare Special Election.

Democratic senators and White House aids said the governor preferred to leave Robinson's seat vacant until a special election could be held, probably about Sept. 14. Administration spokesmen vehemently opposed this course.

After three hours of consultation with Arkansas political leaders, several informed senators said they expected Bailey to make the appointment within the next few days. His nominee would serve, however, only until the special election, in which Bailey is expected to be a leading candidate.

Mentioned for the interim appointment was Brooks Hays, Democratic national committeeman for Arkansas and attorney for the resettlement administration.

Farley and West lobbied all the way from Washington on the funeral train in behalf of Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, President Roosevelt's candidate for the Democratic leadership, against Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, and Keenan lobbied just as energetically in behalf of the court bill.

Both the Harrison and the Barkley camps admit that the bars will be removed on the train going back and that the leadership controversy, at least, will be settled. Vice President Garner is counted upon by the Harrison supporters to take a hand in his favor, despite the President's choice of Barkley.

LIONS INTERNATIONAL DELEGATES TO ARRIVE TODAY AND TOMORROW

Delegates from 2,770 Lions clubs will arrive in Chicago today and tomorrow for the 21st annual convention of Lions International. An attendance of nearly 10,000 is expected at the convention, which opens tomorrow and will close Friday.

Richard J. Osenbaugh of Denver, Colo., a past president of Lions International and general chairman of the convention, arrived yesterday to complete program arrangements.

HOPE TO MAKE FILM OF AURORA IN OWN COLORS

Philadelphia, Pa., July 18.—[Special.]—An attempt to film the Aurora Borealis in color is to be made by an expedition headed by Dr. Thomas Johnson, assistant director of the Bartol Research foundation of the Franklin institute, which leaves this week for Hudson Bay.

Dr. Johnson and John Marshall of Swarthmore college also will send up instruments in unmanned balloons to measure the intensity of cosmic rays. The balloons, which it is hoped will reach a height of 100,000 feet, will carry small radio sets to transmit to an automatic recording set on the ground barometric pressures, the cosmic ray effects, and temperatures.

The expedition, backed by the Carnegie institute of Washington, will work at Bemidji, Minn.; in Manitoba, and at Churchill.

Robber Killed; Parolee Pal Shot in Holdup.

fore being removed to the County hospital.

Dr. Mark Wicks and Dr. N. Goldstein of the Lakeview hospital admitted last night that the question of a fee had come up, but asserted that Debowski was not refused an operation until he said he didn't want to incur the expense of one. They pointed out that they gave him and the bandits ample first aid, adding Debowski did not appear in urgent need of an operation. Police said a number of other hospitals have refused emergency cases because no money was assured.

In charge of the struggle to save Debowski's life at the County hospital yesterday and last night were Dr. Ole Nelson, assistant warden; Dr. Herbert A. Schiller, and Dr. Clayton Brock, aided by two special nurses. Debowski's wife, Wanda, remained with him constantly.

Hardened Veteran of Crime.

The slain bandit, Carson, 45 years old, was a hardened veteran of crime. Less than 15 hours after his death his body was identified as that of the bandit who on Oct. 29 last shot and fatally wounded Walter Smeltzer, 32 years old, 3531 Pioneer avenue, a radio man. The identification was made by Frank Carlson, 6257 Warwick avenue, owner of the Reliance Sound Service company at 1967 Ogden avenue, for whom Smeltzer worked.

Smeltzer was in the offices of the concern Oct. 29 when Carson and another man stepped up to him and announced they were robbers. He thought they were joking, and he tussled with them playfully. Carson fired six shots, hitting him in the abdomen. Smeltzer died a week later.

Record Dates to 1914.

Carson was a gangster in the full meaning of the word. He first ran into police back in 1914. Petty larceny was his first crime. Then, shortly criminal mettle, he was accepted into the notorious Gloriana gang, headed by Charles Gloriana, near north side desperado. This outfit supposedly was associated with the Sam Cardinella murder syndicate.

Blut, only 28 years old, has a less flagrant record. Police said he specialized in robbery. He was sent to prison in October, 1927, on a robbery charge, and paroled on July 14, 1933. He is still on parole. He had been sought since last September as the driver of a hit and run car which killed a pedestrian in the Warren avenue district.

Blut's wounds, like Debowski's, are three in number and serious. He was the one who engaged Debowski in furious battle, with Debowski using Carson's revolver. Each man fired six shots. Nine found their marks. Debowski shot Carson and Blut each three times. Blut shot Debowski three times. Two more of Blut's bullets hit a flashlight Debowski was holding. The final one went wild.

Debowski had gone to the Robins liquor store to return several empty beer bottles and was chatting with Marcus Friedlander, the clerk, when Carson and Blut burst through the door, menaced them with guns, and shouted the usual "This is a stickup!" At their command Friedlander put up his hands. Debowski refused to do likewise. In his right hand he held a heavy flashlight which he used to light his way through a dark alley from his home to the store.

Carson stepped up to Debowski and attempted to seize the flashlight. Debowski swiftly raised it and brought it down on Carson's head. The desperado was stunned and sank to the floor, and as he fell Debowski wrenched the gun from his hand. Then he blazed away at Carson, the latter at the same instant screaming to Blut: "Let him have it!"

Holds His Captive.

Blut maneuvered to one side and began firing. Debowski returned the fire. The two men stood less than ten feet apart. Both fell to the floor in the sensational exchange, Debowski still fighting heroically and holding Blut to prevent him from crawling away. The two struggled out the door and were still there when police arrived.

The bandits' abandoned car was found. Blut said a young woman had been with them. She was gone.

Kill Bandit Suspect

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

State Troopers Hubert Brooks (left) and Ralph Eidson, who shot and killed bank robbery suspect near Springfield, Mo. They are holding money taken from slain man's auto. Part of it was in a vinegar jug.

Springfield, Mo., July 18.—[Special.]—Police detectives added counterfeiting to the crimes committed by Mearle James Turpin, Springfield's "shot-gun" bandit, killed last night in a gun battle in Springfield by state highway patrolmen.

Turpin had been sought for several days in connection with the $22,000 robbery of the Citizens bank here. A careful check of the money taken from the bandit's car has not been made, but bankers intimated $10,000 of the loot is missing.

In searching his car the patrolmen also found counterfeiting equipment causing authorities to believe he was responsible for a flood of bad money circulating through the Ozarks mountain region in recent years.

Turpin once was sentenced to 25 years in Leavenworth prison for train robbery but was paroled after serving only a few years.

PICCARD FLIGHT ENDS IN FIRE 75 AIR MILES AWAY

Scientist Shoots Down His Own Balloons.

7 a. m., was in an isolated valley some nine miles from this northeastern Iowa village. The doctor surveyed the wreck and strolled away to find a settler.

He arrived at the home of Mort Madden, a farmer, who had seen the gondola go over. Madden said the balloons looked like a flock of golf balls and made the cow he was milking kick. It took Dr. Piccard nearly an hour to make his way out of the valley to the farmstead, where he arrived with his white hair flowing in the breezes and said "Good morning" to Mr. Madden.

It took another two hours to get him into Lansing over the twisting, winding, and rutted back roads. There the doctor took to his hotel, refusing to answer the telephone. Mrs. Jeannette Piccard, his wife, arrived in the middle of the afternoon and did the talking.

He Wants to Digest It.

Tonight the doctor was jubilant despite the loss of his instruments and the failure of his radio to work more than two hours. But as to plans for a real hop to the stars in a gondola pulled by 2,000 of the little balloons instead of a mere 95, he would say only, "Wait until I digest the results."

Today's flight was intended especially to test the safety and navigability of the small balloons as compared with one big one. The dynamite caps, the TNT, and the pistol were afterthoughts.

Dr. Piccard and his wife made one flight into the stratosphere on October 23, 1934, taking off from Detroit and landing at Cadiz, O., eight hours later. They picked a treetop that time, too. They reported reaching an altitude of ten miles.

Dr. Auguste Piccard, the first stratosphere flyer, made two ascensions of ten miles. Dr. Jean then took up the sport.

PICCARD'S FLIGHT

FIRE APPARATUS PUMPS WATER TO SKYSCRAPER TOP

Chicago's fire fighting apparatus has ample power to pump water to the tops of the city's highest skyscrapers. This was demonstrated yesterday by tests made at the Pure Oil building, 35 East Wacker drive, under the direction of Joseph Mackey, second deputy fire marshal.

His pumper trucks demonstrated they had far more power than required to give adequate pressure at the fortieth story level, near the top of the building, which is one of Chicago's highest. Tests also were made at the twentieth story as the firemen of Engine company 13 sent water up the building pipes to the hose connections.

FISH ATTACKS SPECIAL RULING ON INCOME TAX

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—In a letter to Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.] tonight asked that the ruling exempting Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt's radio income from taxation be extended to the public.

The letter was the latest blast in verbal war which is being waged over the propriety of exempting Mrs. Roosevelt's radio income from tax because it goes to charity. The fact Mrs. Roosevelt pays no tax on this income was disclosed before the congressional committee investigating tax avoidance by Representative Fish, congressman from the President's home district.

When Mrs. Roosevelt refused to answer a charge of evasion Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson came to her aid and stated that the legal division of the bureau of internal revenue advised Mrs. Roosevelt she need not pay the tax.

TOO LATE FOR 'SECOND GUESS' ON PENSION ACT

Springfield, Ill., July 18.—[Special.]—Despite Attorney General Otto Kerner's ruling that Gov. Horner has until Tuesday to veto the state pension bill, attaches of the office of Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes declared today the law already is in effect and that the bill has been sent to the printers and has been included in the printing of the session laws.

In the absence of Secretary Hughes it was said that the bill would not be returned to Gov. Horner so he could veto it.

Two Broadway Shows End Runs; Nine Still Thrive

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—One musical revue and eight assorted comedies and melodramas were left to brave the midsummer heat after the week-end took its toll of two shows, "The Show Is On," and "Excursion." Two fewer shows remain on Broadway than in the corresponding week last year. With cooling systems and an increase in business over last season, the current shows look forward to a substantial warm weather gross.

The certificate above, differently numbered, appears each day except Sunday. 12 Mark Twain Certificates, each differently numbered, qualify the holder to receive a set of two volumes of "The Complete Works of Mark Twain" (in twenty-four volumes) in accordance with the terms of the Chicago Tribune's Good Will Offer.

the Elevated Railroad System moves a city larger Than Cincinnati

In a single day and night the Rapid Transit Lines—the "L"—carries more people than the entire population of Cincinnati—men, women and children.

And running 5,383 TRAINS every working day . . . over FOUR TIMES THE NUMBER OF ALL TRAINS ENTERING AND LEAVING CHICAGO DAILY OVER THE 25 STEAM AND ELECTRIC RAILROADS SERVING THE CITY (including all suburban trains) . . . "L" service provides the best in local transportation convenience and comfort.

The "L", operating on its own private right-of-way, is the backbone of transportation in Chicago and north and west suburbs . . . the only possible RAPID TRANSIT . . . the greatest single factor for relief of congestion

The North Side "L" lines, alone, carry as many people as could be carried in private automobiles on 7 super-boulevards, each 100 feet wide! 25 more such boulevards would have to be added to take care of as many people as could be carried in one direction on a four-track elevated structure over the divisions as they now exist.

AVOID STREET HEAT!

RIDE THE BREEZE-COOLED "L"!

You are many degrees cooler on the "L". If you want to get away from heated streets and the surface traffic jams, point your footsteps towards the nearest "L" station. Ride in cool comfort—up where you get every breeze from Lake Michigan—and up above the monoxide belt.

The Breeze-Cooled "L" is so comfortable that thousands leave their cars at home and take the Elevated Lines instead. And on sweltering nights, thousands more take an interesting ride and cool off.

Try it yourself. Cool off while you see Chicago the most interesting way. See it by night, as well as by day. And don't miss seeing the many thousands of roof, window and ground gardens that now line the path of the "L". Many of these gardens are entered in the "L" competition for prizes and "L" passengers will decide the winners.

Ride up where you can see—where there is no street traffic—where it is cool. Enjoy real comfort on the Breeze-Cooled "L".

GET THERE! Ride the "L" THE FAST, COMFORTABLE WAY

Cab Drivers Tell of Late Food Deliveries.

Providence, R. I., July 18.—[Special.]—A few hours after the funeral services for Dr. George W. Webster, police tonight said the slain obstetrician positively had been identified as the man to whom cab drivers twice delivered several sandwiches late at night in his fashionable residence within six days of his murder, while Mrs. Webster and their daughter were at their summer home at Misquamicut.

Dr. Webster was fatally wounded shortly after 1 a. m. Friday by a gunman using a .45 caliber pistol. Until the police statement there was conflicting testimony as to the victim's whereabouts on the nights the food was delivered to the Webster home.

Dates Are Revised.

Detective Captain Thomas Rattigan, who made the announcement, also revised the dates as originally reported to Deputy Police Superintendent James Cusick by the drivers, Joseph Brady and John Salvagno.

He said the food was taken to the house at about 1:15 on the morning of Saturday, July 10, and at five minutes past midnight of Monday, July 12. The dates as originally given were the 11th and 13th and Mrs. Webster insisted her husband had been with her in Misquamicut on both days.

Although officials stressed that the physician's sending out for late snacks had no necessary connection with subsequent events, they left the implication that their investigation would center on learning who shared the sandwiches with him.

Tell of Seeing Two.

Earlier in the day the story of the first cab driver was substantiated by a neighbor of the Websters, who told of seeing two scantily clad persons, apparently both men, in a swinging outdoor seat behind the Webster home at 2 a. m. on July 10. It was a hot night.

"I saw the doc," the neighbor, Norman Alper said. "That is, I presume it was the doc with somebody else. They were sitting out in the back yard and both seemed to be in shorts."

Mrs. Carl A. Lindblad, wife of the superintendent of the homeopathic hospital, where Dr. Webster worked and died, sharply denied before the funeral the implications of the "sandwich" story. She asserted Dr. Webster "never looked at" a woman other than his wife.

Brady had told police he knew the man who accepted and paid for the food on the first of the two nights in question was Dr. Webster because he had served him before.

3 ARE DROWNED; WIFE AND SON SEE HUSBAND DIE

Three Chicagoans were drowned while swimming yesterday. While his wife and small son looked on, Otto Lunech, 26 years old, of 3940 Argyle street, sank to his death in a water filled gravel pit near Ridge road and Central street, west of Evanston. Carl Reschke, 34 years old, of 3059 Broad street, drowned in the Des Plaines river in the Columbia park forest preserve near Willow Springs, where he had taken his wife and two children for a picnic. Jackie Sherman, 12 years old, of 2421 North Tripp avenue, drowned in the Fox river at Bay View, near Crystal lake, in McHenry county.

Police Find Door Ajar; Arrest Burglar in Store

Detectives Edward Kirby and Andrew Rintoul of the Central station noticed the door of the J. R. Strauss Tobacco store at 186 North La Salle street was ajar last night, and so they walked in. They found Frank Cudio, 30 years old, 1015 North Franklin street, behind the counter, a burglar kit at his feet. He was arrested. In his pockets the policemen found $134 which he allegedly took from the cash drawer.

2 MOVIE EXTRAS HELD IN WOMAN LAWYER'S DEATH

Los Angeles, Cal., July 18.—(AP)—Two minor film players were held today in connection with the death of Mrs. Dorothy May Garland, 31 years old, an attorney.

Mrs. Garland died in a hospital last night, and acting on a report from her physician, Dr. Wendell W. Starr, police arrested Kay Tutwiler, 29, and Luther Allen, 32, screen extras. Miss Tutwiler was charged with suspicion of murder. Allen was held as a material witness.

Dr. Starr reported to police that he had been treating Mrs. Garland for alcoholism and that last Wednesday night he went to her home to make a professional visit. Mrs. Garland, Miss Tutwiler and Allen had been drinking, he said, and the two women engaged in a quarrel. Mrs. Garland was thrown to the floor and kicked.

Her condition became serious immediately after he stopped the fight, said Dr. Starr, but Mrs. Garland refused to go to a hospital until Friday morning.

Dr. Starr said he did not sign a death certificate because he could not be certain whether alcoholism or the injuries caused her death. An autopsy will be performed tomorrow.

Mrs. Garland, University of Southern California law school graduate, was one-time chief trial deputy in the city attorney's office. She resigned to enter practice with her husband, James P. Garland, from whom she later became estranged.

Mrs. Garland was named defendant this spring in a $130,000 alienation of affections suit filed by Mrs. Marie Yarnell, who charged the woman lawyer stole the love of her husband, Earl Yarnell, police officer. Mrs. Garland filed answer denying the charges.

200 FANS SAVE RACER FROM THE LAW, BUT HE LOSES IN BOTH EVENTS

The sherif in the old fashioned melodramas had but one hero to deal with. But the deputy sherif at the Riverview speedway had 200 last night—all of them race fans whose hearts beat as true as the hero's who saved the homestead.

Wally Zale.

The deputy was there to take Wally Zale, central states midget auto racing champion, back to Milwaukee on a trafic law violation charge. And the race was just about to begin.

"He can't arrest you without a warant, Wally," the fans shouted when the word got around. When the deputy tried to arrest Wally anyway, 200 of them surrounded the driver, the deputy, and Illinois highway police assigned to the case. Fists flew until the law backed down. Wally agreed to go back to Milwaukee after the speedway event.

RAVINIA

By CALEB

THE light of a setting sun lingered in the sky. A few cloud schooners were slowly sailing south, reflecting a roseate flush from the vanished great red ember of the west.

Light breezes mingled and wafted the fragrances of flowers. A cricket was tuning up. And in the great resonant orchestra shell at Ravinia the cricket was soon drowned out in the tuning of many instruments.

Already the seats were almost filled. People with expectant faces, dressed for coolness and comfort, were taking their places on benches or on the grass. Foggily, from afar off, came the blat of an automobile horn and a hollow rumble of wheels on rails.

Could this idyllic and secluded musical oasis be within easy reach of Chicago? Could it be neighbor to a hot, dry jungle of harsh sounds, traffic rumbles, police whistles, shrieking wheels on curved rails, the thunder of trolley cars, the put-put of exhausts, and the shrillness of a city's sirens?

A boy and a girl sat on a blanket spread on the grass, the natural significance of their romance hallowed and beautified for them by the first strains of a sweet symphony. An old man and an old woman sat hand in hand not far away. The silver of their years was touched like the clouds with a roseate flush, not from the departed sun but with melody which made the ghosts of dead words rise and walk once more in their hearts. A small sophisticated group, forgetting the formality of their arrival, were obviously oblivious to all but the music which had melted their stiffness.

Everywhere was relaxation, and submission of the spirit to the laving flood of sound.

This is Ravinia.

HITLER TALKS ON BEST AND WORST OF GERMAN ART

Nazis Blame 'Bad Years' on Jewish Influence.

MUNICH, July 18.—(AP)—Opening the new "House of German Art," Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler today announced his Nazi régime would eradicate ruthlessly the last vestiges of the former "degenerated" era in Germany's artistic life.

The chief characteristics of that era, he said, were lack of clearness, confusion, distortion and corruption. Jewish art criticism, coöperating with Jewish art dealers, had been the chief influence in the old era, the Nazi leader declared.

Hitler said clarity was the keynote of the German artistic spirit.

The "House of German Art" is a new exhibition building dedicated to furtherance of Nazi cultural ideas. Hitler laid the corner stone in 1933.

Reminder of "Marxist" Influence.

Tomorrow the Nazi régime will open also in Munich a display of what it considers Germany's worst paintings and sculptures as a reminder of "Jewish Marxist" influence in pre-Hitler days.

"This exhibition will serve as a warning and an awful example," declared Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda.

Hitler ridiculed cubism, futurism, dadaism and similar trends. He advised any German artist who thinks he has something to say to "express it clearly in his work" and not in silly explanatory phrases. He declared that art which cannot be understood without a new vocabulary of phrases and slogans is worthless.

It is possible, the Fuehrer went on, that some artists actually see the world as they paint it, but that, he said, is no excuse for calling it art. Such tendencies rather should be a matter for investigation as to "how such pathological defects in eyesight can originate," he said.

Home for German Art.

Hitler emphasized that the "House of German Art" will be a home for German, not international art. He described the immense building as "the greatest, proudest, handsomest art exhibition building in the world today."

Introduced by one of the Nazi régime's leaders in Bavaria as "the master of German art," Hitler later observed:

"If I never accomplished more for German art than the erection of this building it would still be more than all the bunglers of the degenerate era contributed."

Goebbels told the federal chamber of art that tomorrow's showing of "awful examples" of the pre-Nazi period is "designed to make German visitors see with shuddering and horror to what depths art fell in Germany and what great effort was necessary to find a way out of this chaotic confusion.

HAY FEVER MASK

[Acme Photo.]

Cincinnati, O., July 18.—[Special.]—Hay fever sufferers who don't mind looking as if they're waiting for a gas attack, may find relief from their seasonal misery by wearing special masks.

One such mask, said to be particularly effective, was designed by Dr. Joseph Biederman, of this city. Among those who demonstrated the mask was Miss Gerda Biederman.

Hay fever masks are not a new invention. They are constructed on the principles of the gas mask, and tend to help almost any hayfever sufferer to some extent. The mask is a treated affair, containing fine carbon particles, which counteract the pollen content of the air.

GIRL BOUND HAND AND FOOT JUMPS OFF FIRE ESCAPE

Boston, Mass., July 18.—(AP)—Alice Gallo, 18, her arms and legs bound with rope, today plunged from the fire escape of her home to the sidewalk 45 feet below, police said, to escape a reprimand from her mother and older sister. She was reported in a critical condition tonight with a fractured skull and internal injuries.

Police said the girl's mother, Mrs. Antoinette Gallo, and a sister, Philomena, admitted binding her as a reprimand for "coming home late."

Police said the case will be presented to the courts.

AUSTRIA CANCELS PARADE AS VETS GIVE NAZI SALUTE

Rally with Germans Held in Beer Halls.

WELS, Austria, July 18.—(AP)—Police canceled a parade permit today when 10,000 German and Austrian war veterans gave illegal Nazi demonstrations at a meeting addressed by Franz von Papen, German ambassador.

After the former soldiers sang the Horst Wessel song [Nazi anthem] and gave the Nazi salute, several hundred police arrested a few ringleaders and threatened to clear the field if demonstrations continued.

Retire to Beer Halls.

The veterans, instead of parading in the feature event, retired to beer halls, where informal demonstrations were held. Authorities estimated about 1,300 German visitors attended but it was reported the Austrians asked the number be limited.

Police with small cameras took hundreds of photographs of persons making the forbidden Nazi salute and additional arrests were expected.

Germans Must Be "Fused."

Von Papen told the gathering that the German peoples must be fused, and said, "Our object is peace, but it must be with honor."

Edmund Glaise-Horstenau, Austrian minister of the interior, who was war time liaison officer between the German and Austrian general staffs, recalled the close coöperation of the two countries during the war. There is a solidarity of purpose today, too, he said.

FALL ON MAY 25 FATAL.

Mrs. Katherine Wantz, 65 years old, 929 North Sawyer avenue, died in her home yesterday of injuries incurred when she fell downstairs at the home of her son, Albert, in North Pelham, N. Y., on May 25.

FRENCH STRIKERS WARNED TO HALT ACTS OF VIOLENCE

PARIS, July 18.—(AP)—Premier Camille Chautemps declared today his government was resolved to put an end to "shameful practices," referring to violence committed by striking hotel and restaurant employés.

Saying he and Minister of Labor Andre Fevrier had found it impossible so far to put an end to the strikes, Chautemps added:

"It is necessary for every one to understand that if the government intends to be completely impartial in labor disputes, it is impossible for the government to show any weakness toward violation of the law."

886,950 HAIRS TO GROW

Between the Ages of 20 and 50

ALL of the hair which is on your scalp today will fall out and will be replaced by new hair within the next four years. This normal "hair cycle" continues as long as your scalp is healthy. Baldness comes when some local scalp disorder (such as dandruff) keeps the hair-growing structure from replacing the hair which reaches maturity and falls out. To avoid baldness you must help your scalp to re-grow 81 hairs each day—886,950 during the "danger age"—20 to 50.

The Thomas' can help you by overcoming any and all of the 14 local scalp disorders which may be leading you to baldness. When you start Thomas treatment, your dandruff disappears, abnormal hair-loss stops, and new hair starts to grow on the thin and bald spots. You need a good head of hair—and you can have it! IT'S SWELL TO FEEL SWELL! .... To guard your health DEMAND Fresh CIGARETTES

You can't buy a stale OLD GOLD!

A GREAT LABORATORY recently measured the effect of stale cigarettes on mucous membrane. Both "dry" and "soggy" cigarettes were tested; both types produced definite tissue irritation.

This emphasizes the importance of the FRESHNESS INSURANCE Old Gold gives to you. You just can't buy dry or "soggy" Old Golds anywhere in the U. S. A.

In any climate, anywhere, Old Gold's exclusive, weather-tight package brings you lusciously fresh "smokes."

The very finest prize crop tobaccos. Brought to you in the pink of smoking condition. That's why Double-Mellow Old Golds taste better . . . and ARE better for you.

P. LORILLARD COMPANY, INC.
(Established 1760)

Refreshingly Fresh . . . It may sound far-fetched to call a cigarette refreshing, but those fresh Old Golds are certainly a refreshing treat here in New Mexico where cigarettes get dry as desert dust.
Henry Armijo (rancher), Albuquerque, New Mexico

(Below) No More Smoking Hangover . . . I used to get up in the morning with a "cottony" feeling in my mouth, from cigarettes of the night before. But those fresh and very mild Old Golds have ended all that. I enjoy two packs a day with never a "ciggie" hangover.
Edythe Wood (artist's model), New York City

IT'S THE EXTRA JACKET! Every pack of Double-Mellow OLD GOLDS is wrapped in TWO jackets—double Cellophane. That EXTRA jacket keeps OLD GOLDS in prime condition in any climate. You can't buy a stale OLD GOLD.

Twenty Good Ones . . . It gets pretty stuffy in the office and the cigarettes we girls keep in our desks used to get stale and dry in no time. Since you've put that extra Cellophane wrapper on Old Golds, though, our "5 o'clock smokes" are as fresh and delightful as the first one out of the pack.

The Evans Fur Company,
Chicago, Illinois.

Gentlemen:

In behalf of leading members of the New York Fur Industry it is my pleasure to extend heartiest congratulations upon the opening of your beautiful new establishment at State and Monroe Streets in Chicago.

I am told that the phenomenal growth of the Evans Fur Company is without parallel in the history of exclusive furriers, and has added to the long and honorable record of State Street an achievement of which all Chicagoans should be justly proud.

By your amazing success you again have proved the truth expressed in the quotation by the great American essayist, Ralph Waldo Emerson: "If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon or make a better mouse trap than his neighbor, though he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."

THE FUTURE OF THE ELEVATED.

What is to become of Chicago's elevated railroads?

They have never been profitable. They managed to pay interest on their bonded debt for a good many years but latterly the earnings have not been sufficient even for that. The money invested in these enterprises is gradually being exhausted. Numerous experiments in changing the fare have had unsatisfactory results. Higher fares have discouraged travel. The capacity of the system to carry trains is limited by the carrying capacity of the loop and accordingly there is small hope of increasing income by reducing the fare. Many of the neighborhoods through which the lines pass have been losing population, and the trend has been toward other sections, many of which are not served by the "L."

The outlook is therefore none too bright. Proposals have been made from time to time to build a series of elevated extensions, notably the Ashland avenue link, which would permit travel across the city without touching the loop. The precarious financial condition of the lines has served as an effective bar to any such investment of new funds.

It remains true, however, that the elevated today carries something like a fifth of all the car riders in Chicago. It does so because it has the only upper-grade roads in Chicago except the steam railroads. Free as it is of cross-trafic, the elevated is in a position to furnish transportation which will be both speedy and safe. It would be a real loss to the community if this substantial advantage were to be surrendered.

All of this suggests that, though the present use of the rights of way is not profitable, other ways may be found which will earn a fair return by performing a useful service to the community. It has been suggested that the stops are now too frequent, with the result that the natural advantage of speed has been lost. Fewer elevated stations, of course, would require that more passengers transfer to the Surface lines, adding a new complication to the already difficult question of dividing the transfer revenues between the two services. Whether any division can be arrived at which will help the elevated without injustice and injury to the Surface lines is yet to be determined.

Possibly the solution of the difficulties of the Rapid Transit Lines lies in converting the rights of way, wherever practicable, into elevated highways for automobile trafic. The Lake street line seems to be particularly well adapted to this purpose because there is no high speed road to the west of the loop as there is to the south and north to offer competition. A toll might be charged for private cars and mass transportation could be provided by buses at a proper charge for the use of the facilities calculated at the very least to pay the costs of paving and maintenance.

The possibilities of converting the elevated lines to superhighways should be carefully explored. Where the width of the right of way permits, where trafic density is sufficient, where the structure can be widened and paved without too heavy an expense, the suggested solution may prove of advantage both to the investors in the present services and to the community.

WAR ON THE SPORTS FRONT.

Several incidents of late on the playing fields of the American and National league baseball teams would lead to the conclusion that it would be unwise to promote the development of this game in the international field. The Japanese and Cubans have learned to do very well with it and nothing disturbing to world peace has occurred as yet, but, as we know, it can become a game of brittle tempers and either for the purpose of brightening the scene or for the expression of injured feelings the players engage in physical strife and sometimes are supported by the spectators. However, this being all in the family, the difficulties are ironed out with a few fines and the subsidence of public excitement.

The most provocative of international games, so long as baseball does not enter the field, is soccer football. It is the most explosive pastime Europe knows and it may be feared that when there is nothing else to cause a war soccer will produce one. A match between Austria and Italy, played at Genoa recently, resulted in the expulsion of the Austrian team from Italy, seemingly by the direct orders of Mussolini. Vienna is considering the sending of a protest.

It appears that the Genoa team was ahead of the Austrian Admira team when the young Austrian player who tied the score by the conversion of a penalty thumbed his nose at his opponents and was immediately knocked down by one of the Italian players. In the ensuing marginal operations four Italians were severely hurt.

The Austrians wanted to play off the tie but they were told to get off Italian soil within twenty-four hours. The head of the Austrian foreign office has asked for an explanation of the expulsion and the Austrian minister in Rome has been instructed to make representations to the Italian government.

Soccer in international sports is less of a game and more of a border incident. Its inflammatory nature suggests that American baseball be kept entirely in the domestic field, because if an American pitcher ever threw bean balls at an Italian, Austrian, German, French, Czechoslovakian, or a Jugo-Slavian batter and ever succeeded in beaning him, or if an American base runner, sliding into second, ever spiked one of the basemen of any of these nationalities, Mr. Hull might not be able to answer for the consequences.

AN ADVERTISMENT OF FAILURE.

Farm administration officials in Washington are still busily defending their payment of $363,000 in benefits to the Delta Pine and Land company of Mississippi. The money was paid to this large corporation for reducing its cotton production. Oscar Johnston, former assistant AAA administrator, who is president of the Delta company, wrote a letter to the government defending the company by saying that if it hadn't reduced its output it would have made half a million dollars more than it did. The payment, he concluded, was only partial compensation for the loss in income. The letter was made public a few days ago by the farm administration in defense of its payments to big farming corporations.

It is a strange defense, indeed. If the Delta company could have made more money by producing normal crops the same would have been true of all other cotton farmers, down to the smallest. The department of agriculture, in publishing Mr. Johnston's letter, is advertising the fact that its policy of crop reduction was a mistake. The farmers sold less cotton for a higher price, but if they had been allowed to produce their normal quotas they would have sold much more for a slightly lower price and would have been materially better off. As it was, the taxpayers and the consumers of cotton were obliged to finance a scheme which accomplished a result exactly opposite from the promised one. The enforced reduction of output did not increase farm income; it lessened it. At the same time it deprived hundreds of thousands of field workers and others of their customary employment and threw them on relief.

Now that the Johnston letter has been published it would seem that the department of agriculture might just as well release for public examination the suppressed report of its own agricultural bureau of economics. After a careful study, by impartial and experienced statisticians in the civil service, the bureau several years ago came to the conclusion that the farmers had derived no benefit from the cotton scheme. The figures which Mr. Johnston gave could not have come as a surprise to the department, because its own men had already presented the same general conclusion. By an oversight a summary of the report was made public, but the report itself has never been given the wide circulation which the studies of the bureau commonly receive. Thus its content is known but its details are still secret. Presumably the publication of the Johnston letter was another inadvertence of the same sort. The men who gave it out did not realize how completely it destroyed the argument for prosperity through scarcity.

THE FIRST THOUSAND.

The massacre clock, its hands turned back to zero when the state legislature closed its doors at the end of June after failing to pass a drivers' license law, registered its first thousand casualties at midnight July 15—21 deaths and 1,001 injuries. Added to the record built up prior to July 1 the total casualties for the year 1937 to date number 12,005—418 killed and 11,587 injured.

While a statement that the daily average has increased from 61 to 68 since the legislature failed in its duty would scarcely be fair because one figure includes winter months when trafic is light, it may be noted that the 1937 record is eighteen per cent higher than that of 1936. Chicago has lived down its reputation as a gangster-ridden metropolis, only to establish nation-wide notoriety as the home of the reckless driver.

When safety highways are finally built surviving Chicagoans will pause and wonder at the length of time it took to get them started. There has never been more than one deduction—that the greater speeds and vehicle weights of motorized trafic will not mix with pedestrians on the same levels. This has been well known ever since the earliest days of railway construction, yet there is temporizing with this and that plan to control something that will not be controled, waiting for the long process of education when thousands of new scholars are taking the wheel for the first time every day, or instructing the police to change human nature.

Another thousand will be killed or maimed before the end of July! Start building deathproof highways now!

STRICTER MARRIAGE REQUIREMENTS IN NEIGHBOR STATES.

[Decorah (Ia.) Public Opinion.]

Two neighbor states, Illinois and Wisconsin, have recently enacted exceptionally stringent requirements for the securing of marriage licenses. In addition to advance notice of intention before the issuance of a marriage license, both states require compulsory hygienic examinations and the license application must be accompanied by a medical certificate showing both man and woman to be free of venereal diseases.

Another neighbor state, Minnesota, while not requiring the hygienic examination, does require advance notice before issuance of a marriage license.

For a few years Iowa required such advance notice. Then the law was repealed. We have felt that this repeal was a considerable step backward. The repeal has resulted in a large number of hasty marriages of couples from other states as well as our own. True it is that the repeal has brought some extra business to border counties of Iowa. But the amount of this business is comparatively unimportant, and encouragement by the state of hasty, ill-considered marriages is not something to be proud of.

Marriage is—or should be—a sacred contract between two people who are proud to acknowledge their intention to unite to any one and every one. The policy of the Catholic church in giving public notice of intention to marry on the part of its members is one that most good citizens respect and admire. Many pastors of other churches would indorse such a policy in their own church organizations.

Iowa should be a good neighbor to Illinois, Wisconsin, and Minnesota by reenacting the law requiring advance notice of intention before the issuance of a marriage license. This state would also take a real forward step by requiring compulsory hygienic examinations of applicants for marriage licenses.

CAVEAT COLLECTOR.

A great many agreements in principle, of which we hear frequently from diplomatic sources, mean nothing in special sets of circumstances. For instance, we all agree that honesty is a sound policy, but we can't recall any one who ever volunteered money after a train conductor had overlooked him in the fare collection.

AUTHORITIES in educational science, concentrated around the University of Chicago, are worrying thus: "Should Election or Prescription Be Given the Greater Emphasis in the Organization of College Programs?" Our comeback from a broader field is that we had an election last fall and have been taking our medicine ever since.

A CITY WORKER GOES FIELDWARD.

Now come the singing sickle bars to cut
The purple seas of clover; loud with bees
These hillsides are; each gully and each rut
Will show again; such heavy yields as these
Are gifts the gods have given men whose toil
How good to feel a kinship to this soil—
How good to be a neighbor to the lark.

They level now the clover; I have come
From city streets; from quarries and from roads.
I hear the heavy reels of binders drum—
I see the shocks of oats; the hay in loads.
I wish that I might stay and be reclaimed
By healing fields, for I am city maimed.

TEMPORA ATQUE MORES.

It was 1896. Little Johnny had just negotiated the kitchen chair and was reaching for the match box when Grandma's frail hand was raised. "No, no, mustn't touch," said she; "burny-burn." . . . This afternoon history started to repeat itself and fizzled. Grandma extended a jewel decked hand in which a cigaret glowed. "Heavens, child, leave those matches alone," she said irritably; "that's the last box in the house." M. L.

THE TRAVELED LADY, halting in Rome, engaged in a conversation with a fellow gadder from Texas. He had been in Milan, he said, and added firmly he was gittin' out of Italy the next day. One day I could have laid before your eyes
My choicest charms and bartered for your heart,
Thinking myself so apt and worldly-wise
That all my thoughts would clothe themselves with art;
Now my lips tremble when I speak your name,
Soft scarlet shades incarnadine my cheeks,
And love's long-studied phrases all go lame,
Leaving me wordless when I most should speak.

Learning your worth but teaches me how poor
I am in even my most gracious ways;
I had been happier a hundredfold
Not knowing my coarse clay and your fine gold.

THE DOODLE BUG.

Sometimes while strolling through the woods we came upon a curious little crater, three or four inches across, formed from the dust of a rotten log. Stooping above it we would call "Doodle, doodle, doodle," and from the bottom of the pit would emerge slowly an ugly, gnomelike insect. He would look craftily about for a while, and if nothing happened would bury himself in the pit again.

He was a doodle bug; a very mysterious creature. It never occurred to us that he might be called forth by any other means than the incantation we employed. A remarkable phenomenon, but no more so than the doings of fairies and goblins, in which we implicitly believed.

Later we observed that when an ant tumbled into the crater the soft dust of its walls made it impossible for the insect to climb out, and the doodle bug captured him and dragged him into its hidden den and no doubt devoured him. So the doodle bug was an ant lion, and the crater was a trap for his prey. And there was no magic about our method of calling him forth. Any noise would have answered as well. And probably there were no fairies or goblins in the woods, either.

USE DISCRETION WITH OLD SOL.

HOW many of us will have sufficient judgment to take our sunlight with moderation? A coat of tan is wholesome; that is, if it is obtained gradually, but all too often it is acquired so rapidly that the absorption of the toxins from the injured skin places a heavy burden upon the avenues of elimination.

True enough, it is healing in many disease conditions, but it will promote health only if administered in modest doses. But we must not expect that light or any other natural agent will restore youth or health or vigor—in and of itself. In proper quantities, however, it may activate processes which have remained dormant and which need stirring up. But the good effects are slow in appearing. At least a month will be required and treatment should not be attempted at all if the patient is running a temperature or is infected with pulmonary tuberculosis.

The end sought is the storage of more vitamins—the piling up of reserves for the winter season when the beams are less powerful. Children particularly can fill a sizable depot, as they can be out of doors much of the day clad only in bathing suits.

Some adults seem to labor under the misapprehension that by baring the hands and face they will thus secure sufficient ultraviolet. Unless one-third of the body is devoid of all clothing and in position to receive direct sunlight little benefit will result. Better yet, wear only shorts—at a stated period each day during vacation—and make a business of sun and air bathing.

It is a good thing that Old Sol doesn't give off all of his rays in the upper [ultraviolet] part of the spectrum, otherwise we would blister and burn quickly. Eighty per cent is in the form of infrared, or heat rays, and less than one-fifth consists of the chemical or healing portion. In our enthusiasm then we must not forget that the heating effect may be very great—so much so that the body may have difficulty in disposing of the excess. This is what happens in sunstroke.

The duration of exposure is important. Only 60 seconds or less on each side of the body on the first day is permitted. The interval may be increased by half a minute or so daily until a maximum of six to eight are allowed. After the tan has deepened, however, longer exposures can be endured with safety. Redness that lasts for four or five hours indicates overdosage and the next day the period should be lessened.

Those who have a tendency to arthritis or anemia, or who have poorly developed bones, will be helped materially by outdoor activity during the summer. But here again tender skins will have to be guarded, as the objective is defeated if too much is taken.

There is real danger, of course, in sunburn; in the destruction of the outer layers of the skin. Then, too, on healing the area may take on an "old" or senile appearance. In an acute case blisters may form and absorption from the burned region may occasion a temperature. We have a right to look upon the epidermis as one of the channels by which the body rids itself of waste material. If considerable damage results an extra load will be thrown upon the kidneys. If exposure is a matter of necessity a cold cream containing a few grains of bismuth subcarbonate or disodium sulphonate to the dram will be useful as a preventive.

What should be done for sunburn? In the first place avoid it. If it is suffered anoint the inflamed cuticle with some bland, sterile oil. Apply the material generously on strips of sterile muslin. The shoulders, neck, face, back, and arms are the parts most frequently affected. An old shirt that is clean will serve to protect against rubbing. A fresh application should be made daily. Rarely will the tannic acid spray be required, but if extensive peeling ensues, leaving a raw surface, this procedure may become necessary.

Send a stamped, addressed envelope for recipe to prevent sunburn and for relief after burn has occurred.

SAME THING.

R. I. writes: What is chronic nervous exhaustion? How does it differ from a nervous breakdown? What can be done to cure it? What type of person is subject to it?

REPLY.

Chronic nervous exhaustion and nervous breakdown are the same thing. It is really a mild form of neurosis and may manifest itself in a variety of ways—anxiety, sensitiveness, irritability, fatigue, weakness, headache, or other chronic pain for which there is no physical cause or explanation.

Mental hygiene, consisting of a thorough study of the nature of the trouble, and unremitting discipline will cure it in time. Sometimes an understanding friend can help.

Introspective persons with a bad nervous inheritance and an unhappy childhood are most likely to exhibit the symptoms.

TOXIC PSYCHOSIS.

B. R. writes: Have there ever been any cases where the mind became deranged because of infected teeth, that is, where a patient became delirious for several hours each day? Would the removal of such teeth clear up the condition, and about how long would it take?

REPLY.

There are many well authenticated cases of what is termed toxic psychosis. These patients recover speedily after the removal of the focus of infection. Puerperal insanity is probably toxic in origin. Almost any severe illness may be accompanied by delirium. As recovery advances the mental symptoms disappear. I know of a young woman who made a complete recovery from a profound depression following the removal of some badly diseased teeth.

MYOPSIS.

S. A. T. writes: What is myopsis? Is there a cure?

REPLY.

Myopsis means spots before the eyes. The condition is found frequently in errors of refraction and the symptom may be aggravated temporarily during digestive derangements. They are annoying but of no importance and do not affect the vision.

Treatment consists in correcting errors of refraction or in relieving disturbances of digestion. The spots often persist until the individual ceases to look for them and thus forgets their existence. Sometimes they merely represent fatigue—disappearing after a good rest.

TRUST FUND.

Chicago, July 10.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A trust fund was formed by my brother, stating that property was to be held in trust and income to go to me during my lifetime—after death to be divided between my [1] living children [there are two children living at present]. Can this trust, by agreement of myself and two children, be set aside and property divided between ourselves by mutual agreement? There is no mention in this will of a trustee. Following is the quotation from will: "Second: I hereby give, devise, and bequeath to my sister, now residing in Chicago, Ill., for her life, my three farms in Nebraska and two-thirds of the total value of mortgages held and owned by me at the time of my demise, and [2] upon her death to her then living children share and share alike, knowing that such children will take proper care of their father." F. R.

1. If the wording is such as to include possible afterborn children, then clearly a distribution would not be practicable as long as this possibility is open. If it is so worded that persons now in existence are the only ones who can share, if all of the parties are of legal age, and if the trustee is willing to coöperate, then we do not see how any other person would be in a position to object to any settlement on which you may now agree.

2. We would interpret this wording as including after-born children and hence as preventing a present distribution.

UNOCCUPIED BUILDING.

Chicago, July 9.—[Friend of the People.]—At No. 1647 of our block is a brick cottage partly demolished by the children of the neighborhood. It is an awful looking sight and all the youngsters play there. The posts, joists, partitions, and other supports have been removed by the neighbors for wood. We are afraid it will topple over any minute and kill passersby or the children who insist on playing there. The owner has never been known to any one around here. Please try and do something to remove this hazard before it takes any lives. E. G.

Our inspector reports the correct address of the partly wrecked brick cottage as 1650, which is a vacant one story, brick residence in dilapidated condition and open to vandalism. Owner has been notified to board up all openings in building or have wrecked. The police department has been requested to watch premises. If notice is not complied with within the time allowed we will proceed as the law directs.

REAL ESTATE SALE.

Chicago, July 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A died leaving no will disposing of real estate. B and C are direct heirs. B and C have opportunity to sell. Trust company will issue bond.

1. What per cent can they charge for bond? Property has $8,000 mortgage.

2. Will bond have to run for seven years—until title is closed?

3. Who gets the money from sale of property—B and C or trust company?

4. If trust company gets the money from sale how long can or do they hold it? M. O.

1. As in the case of any ordinary private transaction, they can name their terms arbitrarily and your remedy, if you are dissatisfied with the terms, is to refuse to deal with them.

2. Seven years is the period in absence of probate.

3. The title company may insist on handling the money, but obviously they would not be entitled to all of it beneficially if that is what you mean to ask.

4. An agreement should be negotiated covering these points.

AFTER FOUR YEARS IN A TRAILER.

Chicago, July 16.—While reading the morning Tribune on my way to work I read an article that really makes me sore. The article is entitled "Trailer Camps" and I wish to state here and now that the party that wrote that article has never been any closer to a trailer camp than the first cocktail bar that he could find.

In the first place, most trailers are manufactured, not home made. As for sanitary conditions, they are far ahead of a lot of bathrooms I have encountered in the great city of Chicago.

As for beauty, that is all a matter of opinion. Some people think it is beauty to see some dame with an evening gown on standing up to a bar guzzling the slop they call beer, or seen walking up and down Michigan avenue with her toenails all painted up. Be that as it may. A good trailer camp properly managed is clean, sanitary, healthful, and, above all, quiet. Did you ever hear of any one dying in a trailer camp, or going to a hospital, or sitting up all night because the apartment is so hot you can't sleep?

As for dodging taxes, don't worry; a man in his right mind isn't going to own any real estate in the state of Illinois, especially Chicago. As for foods, you are forced to pay from 5 to 6 per cent anyway, and living costs are 50 per cent higher in Chicago than Detroit, Cleveland, St. Louis.

But that is beside the point. If the city of Chicago wants to be such an ideal city, why not convert one of the many parks into a trailer city and benefit by it?

Ten thousand trailers come into Chicago every year. Rent per week, $4. Twenty thousand people spend from $3 to $10 per day in the city department stores, shows, groceries, gasoline, repairs, and what not. Why drive that business from Chicago? Why not try to make it at least pleasant for the fellow that comes here to see the sights of such a fair city?

Just because we can't dump it all into the real estate sharks' hands or the Hotel Men's association, why not let people live as they wish to live?

I have been living in a trailer for the past four years in compliance with a doctor's orders for my wife's health. She is still alive today and no more doctors' bills. W. T. Ward.

Chicago, July 9.—It seems that the duke and duchess of Windsor have nothing to do these days but primp and pose and simper and have pretty pictures taken to prove to a breathless world their fellicity and the rightness of their cause.

CONCERNING AIRPORTS.

Chicago, July 16.—Inconsistency, thy name is Tribune! Advocating in your platform a lake front airport and editorially on the very same page urging the consummation of the proposed extension of the present airport that would irrevocably kill the lake front airport project.

The Air Pilots' Association of Chicago reluctantly favors the lake front airport, since it is a compromise between compelling the air lines to provide their own terminal and the demand of private flyers to be permitted to use the present airport for which our taxes are being spent. The cost of the extension of the present airport plus the W. P. A. contribution earmarked for extension purposes is sufficient to completely build the lake front airport. The log rolling and lallygagging being indulged in by the city hall gang is a typically political trick.

End the stalling. Build the lake front airport exclusively for landing and take-offs. Compel the air lines to combine and build themselves a remote airport for storage, etc., as the railroads provide their own roundhouses and freight car yards. The present municipal airport will be found ample in size without 1 cent of added cost to permit the private taxpaying flyer to use the airport his taxes pay for, but which he is not permitted to use. Harold A. McGrath,

DICTATORIAL WAYS.

Bay View, Mich., July 16.—When a would-be dictator sets out with the avowed determination to change the face of the particular section of the world that he has ordained unto himself that he shall rule with a rod of iron, the minor casualties among his followers never deter him. What does it matter to a Mussolini if 1,000 men fall in battle so long as Il Duce still rules? What does it matter to a Franklin D. Roosevelt if a few able but misguided lieutenants fall on the field? Why, oh why, go on with this silly business of trying to cram dictatorship down the throats of free Americans? It can't be done, and the quicker Mr. Roosevelt realizes it and lets congress go home the fewer casualties there will be among the old wheelhorses and the better off we shall all be. W. V. Haynes,

BUTTER AND EGGS.

Chicago, July 13.—The Tribune today on its financial sheet states that our government has spent between 75 and 100 million dollars to raise the price of butter 3 to 5 cents and eggs about as much. How do the taxpayers like to be taxed to raise the 100 million dollars and then be taxed 3 to 5 cents on butter and eggs plus the sales tax? Soak the rich users of butter and eggs; the laborer can do without them, o. k. the mandate. You asked for it, you got it. Marx,

BERLIN, July 18.—Angry expressions marked comment today by Nazi officials on the address which Pope Pius XI made yesterday at Castel Gandolfo, Italy, praising Cardinal Mundelein of Chicago.

The pontiff, in speaking to a general audience told a group of Chicagoans, "the great cardinal is courageous in defense of the rights of God and the church and the welfare of souls."

[Cardinal Mundelein recently criticized German trials of lay brothers and priests accused of immorality, and also called Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler "an Austrian paper hanger and a poor one at that."

Criticize Pontiff's Attitude.

Nazi political circles declared that the attitude of the pope "is contrary to all diplomatic usages," and charged that the pontiff "abandoned the diplomatic path."

It was forecast that the "German government will not accept this challenge in silence."

The pope's address, called by Nazis an "approval of Mundelein's slanders against the head of the German state," was described as "incredible."

Five Confessional [Evangelical Lutheran] pastors who at today's church services took up collections for relatives of clergymen now in prison were arrested after conclusion of the services. The arrests were made on the grounds that the pastors did not obtain official permission to make such collections.

Church "Above Nationalism."

Among those seized was the Rev. Mr. Hildebrand, who preached at St. Anne church, in Dahlem, fashionable Berlin suburb. He declared that members of the Confessional movement now are described as enemies of the state and as communists, but said "the church is and will remain above nationalism."

After the services at St. Anne's, the congregation passed to the vestry, where they silently handed over subscriptions. Scarcely had the last member of the congregation departed when police in civilian attire entered, arrested the Rev. Mr. Hildebrand and carried him to a closed automobile through ranks of the parishioners still gathered outside the church.

Some fifty theological students belonging to the Confessional movement have been expelled for proclaiming solidarity with two theological students recently expelled from Berlin university.

MARY ELLEN GRUVER.

Kewanee, Ill., July 18.—[Special.]—Police agencies between here and California were looking today for the parents of Mary Ellen Gruver, 4 years old, who was abandoned in a railroad station. The little girl was being cared for, meanwhile, at a Salvation Army home. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Gruver, were identified as formerly of Ellwood, Ind.

Fights an Enraged Bull with Pitchfork; Kills Boy

Albuquerque, N. M., July 18.—(AP)—Joe Bieber, 16 years old, a dairy worker, died here today of wounds which Dr. W. R. Lovelace said were inflicted with a pitchfork wielded by a friend, Lawson Childers, 20, who was trying to drive off an enraged bull. They were feeding the stock when the bull knocked Bieber down and began trampling him. Childers said the fork must have glanced off the bull and struck Bieber. Two tines pierced his brain.

TUNNEL WORKERS FIGHT WATER TO TAP SUPPLY LINE

Labor 140 Feet Under Surface of Oak Street.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.
(Diagrams on Back Page.)

With only three feet to go an inflow of water has halted work on a shaft 140 feet below Oak street and Lake Shore drive where city engineers are striving to connect the old Northeast lake tunnel with the Chicago avenue water tunnel completed in 1935. City Engineer Loran D. Gayton cited this yesterday as being illustrative of the difficulties encountered in the 90 year history of Chicago's $130,000,000 water system.

Invisible to the everyday world, laborers are working in compressed air to complete the shaft between the old tunnel, buried in clay, 87 feet below surface, and the Lake Shore drive branch of the new tunnel, which is in rock, 78 feet farther down.

By connecting the two tunnels, the new one will receive added billions of gallons of water sucked in at the old Carter H. Harrison crib, 2.6 miles off shore. The old crib and tunnel went out of service when the city opened the new tunnel and its intake crib, the William E. Dever, which adjoins the Harrison crib. In the future both cribs will provide water for the big new tunnel.

The job was started early this year. Almost every week some new difficulty appeared. Air pressure to hold back the seeping water was introduced in the subterranean working chamber. It now stands at 34 pounds per square inch and may have to be increased.

But City Engineer Gayton confidently predicts that the shaft will be completed in two weeks. The present troublesome water comes from the new tunnel which is now separated from the workers by only three feet of rock, he believes. The old tunnel was "unwatered" for the operation.

All the tunnel work carried out by the city during the last 20 years has been under the immediate direction of James J. Versilus, engineer of construction, and his assistant, John S. Dean. Their efforts are supervised by City Engineer Gayton and Mayor Kelly, who, incidentally, keeps up his license as a civil engineer.

Under Bedrock all the Way.

When these men in 1935 sent water coursing through the Chicago avenue tunnel at the rate of 700 million gallons daily they completed the greatest single portion of the city water system. Constructed at a cost of $13,500,000, the tunnel is 11⅛ miles long, running 130 to 200 feet below surface, far under bedrock all the way.

But the history of Chicago's $130,000,000 water system is studded with other engineering marvels which in their day equaled those of recent chapters. From the time a hundred years ago when peddlers dipped water from Lake Michigan and sold it to their customers in barrels, Chicago has shown an increasing thirst for their wares.

Cedar Log Pipes First.

The first water works, at Lake street and Michigan avenue, piped supplies through bored cedar logs. It was privately owned. The city took over, and in 1867 completed a three year project, a brick tunnel to the two mile crib off of Chicago avenue. This five foot tunnel was the wonder of the world then, with its adjuncts, the crib and the Chicago avenue pumping station.

Until 1907 all the tunnels were completed without the aid of air pressure. In many cases, where quicksand, swelling clay, or other unstable ground was encountered, it was necessary to abandon the tunnel in the bad ground and start again.

The major tunnels still in service, which range from 6 to 16 feet in diameter, are:

Tunnel.	Year completed.	Present length, miles.
Four-mile lake	1892	6.45
14th street	1892	.50
Lake View	1892	2.0
68th street	1894	2.4
Northeast lake	1900	2.66
New Polk street	1907	1.49
Blue Island avenue	1909	5.1
Southwest	1911	10.1
Wilson avenue	1916	3.62
Western avenue	1927	6.62
Chicago avenue	1935	11.5

In addition to 88 miles of tunnels, the city has six intake cribs, twelve water pumping stations, two sewage pumping stations, and a municipal power plant.

KENT AND HIS DUCHESS START CONTINENTAL VISIT IN TWO WEEKS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 18.—The duke and duchess of Kent will visit the continent in about two weeks, it was stated officially tonight by a member of the duke's staff, who said the visit will be "a private one to relatives and friends." The duke, who drives, will take an automobile with him.

It was reported earlier that the duke intended to go to lower Austria to visit his brother, the duke of Windsor, former King Edward VIII of Great Britain, who is honeymooning near Noetsch, but no official confirmation of this rumor has been forthcoming.

The reference to "relatives" might have been to the Jugo-Slavian royal family, since the wife of Regent Prince Paul is a sister of Kent's wife, the former Princess Marina of Greece.

INQUEST ON TEN DEATHS IN RIOT MAY END TODAY

Coroner Frank J. Walsh said yesterday that the inquest into the death of ten persons in the Memorial day steel strike riots may be closed today.

A few witnesses still are to be heard, and if the hearing is not finished by noon a night session will be held, Walsh said. One of the witnesses is expected to be Dr. Lawrence Jacques, 804 East 58th street, who established a first aid station for the strikers. He already has testified briefly.

Numerous witnesses were heard Wednesday and Friday. The jury devoted part of the inquiry to an examination of the Paramount news reel pictures of the riots.

A WIFE'S TIP TO THE HUSBANDS OF CHICAGO!

"If your wife is anything like I was—a little doubtful about your flying—here's a good tip: Take her on a little vacation trip via Eastern Air Lines. I've just returned from one and had the time of my life. No wonder you men like flying The Great Silver Fleet. So swift and smooth. What comfort in those luxurious big cabins. And that attentive flight-steward made me feel like a queen. Ask your wife today! I'll bet she takes you up on the suggestion."

For any advertiser in America whose goods must be sold at a profit, what New York's department stores do to sell the profit-portion of America's First Market is headline Business news across the land.

Here's what New York department stores did to speed the flow of profit goods the first six months of 1937: while package deliveries went 8% ahead of 1936, their advertising in the Herald Tribune went up 18%, for a gain of 316,000 lines.

That was the greatest increase given any New York newspaper, the heaviest additional selling load any of New York's nine newspapers delivered.

There are powerful selling facts beneath this pleasant Canyon of Buildings and Boxes.

U. S. ARMY'S NEW FIGHTING PLANE READY FOR TEST

It Can Overhaul Any Air Target, Engineers Say.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 18.—[Special.]—Secretary of War Woodring tonight announced the army's new experimental multi-seater fighting plane has been turned over to Wright field at Dayton, O., for assembly and initial flight tests.

The experimental fighter, known as the XFM-1, meaning experimental fighter multi-seater, has been pronounced by flying men who have secretly watched it grow from drawing board to plane as a formidable fighting machine.

Propellers Behind Wings.

It was designed and built to fill an imperative need in the air corps for fighting craft capable of bearing a battle to planes of the flying fortress type now in the air fleets of the leading nations of the world. The new plane was constructed by the Bell Aircraft corporation at Buffalo, N. Y.

The plane departs from conventional military design in several features. Chief of these is that it is a pusher—its propellers are behind the wings to give increased propeller efficiency. This arrangement permits gunners, one on either wing, to have a free field of fire to the front.

The plane, according to engineers, can overhaul any air target and strike with power when it engages its prey. It carries six guns.

Fly Substratosphere.

Unlike pursuit planes of the past, the XFM-1 is not a small craft. It accommodates a crew of five—pilot, copilot, navigator and two wing gunners. The ship is designed to fly in the sub-stratosphere up to 30,000 feet.

It is a low wing, all metal monoplane powered by two engines recently developed by the Allison Engineering corporation.

NAVY ABANDONS HUNT FOR AMELIA BY SEA AND AIR

HONOLULU, T. H., July 18.—(AP)—The United States navy gave Amelia Earhart up for dead at sunset today, when it announced an end to the vast South seas hunt for the aviatrix and ordered the return of the giant aircraft carrier Lexington to its base in San Diego.

The carrier, which has sent its searching planes roaring vainly across equatorial skies for nearly a week, was ordered to proceed directly to San Diego.

Three destroyers, also in the hunt for the aviatrix and her navigator, Frederick J. Noonan, will return to the Pacific coast via Pearl Harbor, where they will refuel.

Two weeks ago Friday the world-famous aviatrix and Noonan vanished on a 2,570 mile flight from Lae, New Guinea, to equatorial Howland Island, a mere dot two feet above the sea.

Husband Grateful to Navy.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 18.—(AP)—Grief stricken, George Palmer Putnam, husband of Amelia Earhart, had little to say tonight when told the navy had given up the noted flyer as dead and was abandoning its search.

"I am deeply appreciative of what the navy has done," he said. "That is all I can say."

LANDON WILL BE HONOR GUEST AT WINNETKA DINNER

Former Gov. Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, Republican nominee for President in 1936, was a guest yesterday at the home of Hill Blackett, 614 Pine Lane, Winnetka. Mr. Blackett, an advertising executive, was director of public relations for the Republican national committee during the Landon campaign.

An informal dinner is to be given tomorrow in Mr. Landon's honor at the Blackett home. Among those invited are Col. Frank Knox, publisher, who was Landon's running mate as vice-presidential candidate; former Senator Otis F. Glenn; C. Wayland Brooks, recent nominee for governor; State Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg; C. B. Goodspeed, treasurer of the Republican national committee, and Edward Hayes, former national commander of the American Legion.

VOTE SALE AND GRAFT IN OHIO TO BE EXPOSED

Officials of County Are Ousted by Governor.

Ironton, O., July 18.—(AP)—The state of Ohio masses the strength of its investigation powers this week to sift charges of vote buying, graft, poor relief corruption, and financial irregularities in this Ohio river community—famed more than 100 years ago as an early center of the iron industry.

Lawrence county's officials were superseded by gubernatorial order as the state sent in attorneys, accountants and examiners to delve into State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson's charges that a "political gang" dominated the county and was responsible for widespread corruption in public affairs, including shortages in public funds and vote buying with relief money.

Six prominent Republicans have been indicted on charges of vote tampering, accused of changing ballots to "throw" a county commissioner race in last November's election. Four of them were tried last month—the other two gave state's evidence—but the jury disagreed and Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy asked the federal government to take over the prosecution.

Attorney General Duffy, on Gov. Martin L. Davey's authorization, sent a representative here to obtain a special grand jury investigation. Common Pleas Judge James Collier ordered the jury drawn Monday and to start its inquiry Thursday.

Pilot Forced Down in City Park; Lands Plane Safely

Baltimore, Md., July 18.—(AP)—G. B. Fenwick Jr., private pilot of Baltimore, brought his plane to a safe forced landing in a crowded city park today after the motor stalled.

Fenwick was 2,500 feet above the city hall when the motor cut out. He circled the ship for a forced landing. Patrolman Bernard L. Tully, ran through the park blowing his whistle and managed to clear the field.

COLLEGE YOUTHS GIVEN CHOICE OF WORK OR STUDY

50 to Do Both at First, Then Decide.

Fifty freshmen at North Park college, Kedzie and Foster avenues, will study and work at paid jobs alternately in an educational experiment starting this summer.

It is expected that those who find the business world better for them than college classes will enter permanently into that field, saving years of useless higher education. Those who find they are more adapted to academic pursuits than to business can make plans to complete full college courses.

It will take three years to complete two regular years of junior college work under the work-and-study plan. On Aug. 1, the freshmen will take jobs until Feb. 1, when they will enter classes until June 15, when a six week vacation starts. This procedure will be repeated in the following two years.

Opportunity For Youth.

M. P. Nelson, assistant to the president of the college, who devised the plan, said yesterday:

"We offer youth an opportunity to explore vocational possibilities. At the end of the course the student workers will have had ample time to decide whether to continue their education or plunge immediately into the business world."

Although work-and-study plans now are in force at more than thirty colleges and universities in the country, North Park college will be the first institution to offer the system to junior college boys of 18 to 20, Mr. Nelson declared.

Business Houses Agree.

Chicago business houses that have agreed to provide jobs, Mr. Nelson said, include Marshall Field and Company, Butler Brothers, the Chicago Mail Order company and the Millar Publishing company. Two dozen companies are now on the list, which is expected to be expanded. Fifty additional students will join the coöperative course each semester until the number ultimately includes 300 of the college's 900 junior students.

Aiding the school in administration of the program will be an advisory board of a dozen business and professional men, which will include William Backrach, vice president of the Dearborn company, chairman, and Attorney George E. Q. Johnson, former federal district attorney.

PRE-MARRIAGE TESTS FOR VENEREAL INFECTIONS NOW REQUIRED BY LAW!
A new state law requires a couple to prove they are free from venereal diseases before a marriage license can be issued. With separate departments for men and women, and with both men and women physicians in attendance, the Public Health Institute is especially well fitted to make pre-marriage tests. Physical examination, including blood and other tests, costs $3.00 per person.

WHAT'S AHEAD?

Nothing but misery if either has an unsuspected venereal infection!

Don't allow syphilis or gonorrhea to make your marriage an unhappy, childless one, but visit a doctor or this reliable clinic—at once!

FOR a couple to marry without first being examined for venereal diseases is to run the risk of wrecking not only their own lives but those of their children to come. In fact, the danger to innocent babies is the most horrible thing of all about syphilis and gonorrhea, for together they constitute the principal cause of stillborn, deformed, blinded and feeble-minded infants!

Remember, it is entirely possible to have a venereal infection and not be aware of it. Syphilis, for example, can be contracted by kissing, by using a public towel or drinking cup, by accepting a lighted cigarette from another, or by receiving personal services from diseased individuals. Thus, without taking a thorough physical examination which includes a Wassermann test, no one can be absolutely sure that he or she is free from venereal diseases!

That is why the laws of eight states now require an examination for venereal infections before a wedding license can be obtained, and why a similar law has just become effective in the State of Illinois. For if venereal diseases can be discovered and properly treated before marriage, much suffering, childlessness and divorce can be prevented.

Escape these consequences!

Untreated syphilis, in both men and women, may lead to heart disease, blindness, deafness, apoplexy, paralysis or even insanity! And in the case of an expectant mother who is not treated during pregnancy, it may cause her to have a stillbirth or bear a defective baby that will live only a short time.

Untreated gonorrhea, in a man, may result in stricture, sterility, crippling rheumatism, or serious prostate, bladder and other troubles. In a woman, it may necessitate a mutilating operation that will keep her from having children. Or, if she does have a child, it may lose its sight due to germs getting into its eyes at birth.

When the risk is so great, why not make up your mind to be examined before your marriage—either by your family physician or the Public Health Institute? Even if infection is discovered, it may not be necessary to wait a long time before marrying. For modern methods of treatment often make it possible for venereal disease sufferers to marry safely within a comparatively brief period.

Treatments as low as $1.00

Organized by public-spirited citizens as a corporation "NOT-FOR-PROFIT" under the laws of the State of Illinois, the Public Health Institute offers treatment for venereal diseases at the lowest possible fees consistent with specialized medical attention. An examination for syphilis and gonorrhea, including all necessary laboratory tests, costs only $3.00, while some treatments for syphilis cost as little as $1.00 and some of those for gonorrhea still less!

Despite these low fees the Institute provides a friendly, personalized service. Each patient is promptly attended in a private room, and to avoid embarrassment is known by number rather than by name. The Institute's facilities are available to all, as even those temporarily short of funds can arrange to be treated.

NOTE: Each of the Institute's men and women physicians is thoroughly trained in the superior methods resulting from giving over 4,500,000 examinations and treatments!

WOMAN KILLED AND 5 INJURED IN CAR COLLISION

2 Pedestrians, Hit Crossing Street, Die.

[See editorial page for the massacre clock.]

Mrs. Bertha Staberow, 74 years old, 1139 West 73d street, was fatally hurt and five other persons were injured when two automobiles collided yesterday afternoon at 71st street and Kedzie avenue.

Mrs. Staberow was riding with her daughter, Mrs. Emma Fogarty, 40, and her grandson, Harold Fogarty, 21, of the West 73d street address, who also were injured. Fogarty was driving.

The ocupants of the other auto, all of whom were injured, were the driver, Harry Prickett, 57, of 8026 Aberdeen street, a locomotive engineer for the New York Central railroad; his wife, Julia, 53, and their son, William, 32. All were taken to the Holy Cross hospital.

Dies in Car-Truck Crash.

Thomas Aquilar, 26 years old, 1124 Adams street, Gary, Ind., was killed yesterday when he was catapulted from the rumble seat of an automobile as it crashed into a truck at Calumet and Indiana avenues in Hammond.

Andrew Murphy, 7 years old, 5124 La Salle street, was killed by an automobile last night as he attempted to cross Wentworth avenue at 51st street. The driver, Harold Sullivan, 30, of 7107 Rhodes avenue, took him to the Evangelical hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Two Pedestrians Die.

Two pedestrians, one 16 years old, the other 75, died yesterday of injuries incurred when they were struck by automobiles.

Emil Zuberg of 1648 Larrabee street, the younger victim, was hit Friday by an automobile driven by Robert Hodges, 22, of 4927 Louise avenue, Niles Center, as he was crossing Lake Shore drive in Lincoln park a block north of North avenue. He died in Henrotin hospital. Hodges has been charged with reckless driving.

Philip Tavolino, the other pedestrian, who lived at 1617 Roosevelt road, was struck at Roosevelt road and Ashland avenue by a car driven by Frank Mazarka, 31, of 2812 Grady court. Tavolino died in the County hospital. The driver was ordered to attend the inquest today.

Car Hits Post; 2 Hurt.

James Scott, 22, of 738 North Dearborn street, and Robert Watts, 21, of Chattanooga, Tenn., were seriously injured early yesterday when their automobile struck an elevated railway post in Wells street south of Kinzie street.

On June 30 the state legislature, because of a patronage feud, missed its last opportunity to enact a drivers' license law which has reduced trafic accidents in some states. Since then and up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 34 persons have been killed and 1,213 injured in automobile accidents in Chicago.

Since Jan. 1 trafic accidents have killed 537 persons in the county, including 433 in Chicago, according to the coroner's office. During the same period 11,814 were injured in automobile accidents in the city.

Alexander Morton, 65, Dies; Services to Be Tomorrow

Alexander M. Morton, 65 years old, of Zion, for many years manager of the Marshall Field & company lace industries in Zion, died in St. Luke's hospital Saturday night. Mr. Morton came to this country from Scotland in 1903, became connected with Marshall Field's in 1909, and retired in 1935. He is survived by his widow, Celia, a son, Douglas, and a daughter, Jean. Funeral services will be at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the East Benton Memorial Methodist church in Zion, with burial in Greenwood cemetery, Zion.

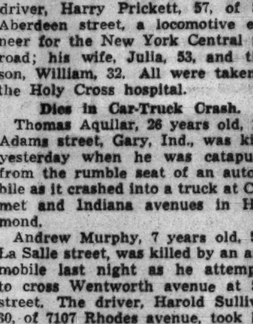
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: After the Thin-Air Man

H. PARKER WILLIS, NOTED FINANCIAL AUTHORITY, DIES

New York, July 18.—(AP)—Henry Parker Willis, international economist and a frequent financial adviser to the federal government, died today at Oak Bluffs, Mass., after several months' illness with heart trouble, associates here announced. He was 63.



H. Parker Willis.

Willis was a professor of banking at Columbia university, a prolific contributor to financial periodicals in this country and abroad, and a close associate of Senator Carter Glass in the preparation of several important federal fiscal measures. He assisted in the drafting of the federal reserve act, the farm loan act, and the banking act of 1933.

Willis also had been a special financial adviser to the governments of Rumania and the Irish Free State.

Other positions he had held at various times were president of the Philippine National bank, editorial writer for the New York Evening Post, Washington correspondent for the Journal of Commerce and the Springfield [Mass.] Republican.

Willis was adviser to the house ways and means committee, 1911-1913, the house banking and currency committee, 1912-1913; joint committee on rural credits, 1914, and the senate banking and currency committee, 1930-1932.

Among his many books were "The Federal Reserve System," "Foreign Banking Systems," "The Life of Stephen A. Douglas," and "Economics of the Inflation."

ZION PASTOR BACK IN PULPIT AFTER MANN ACT TERM

Looking as blond and handsome as ever in his tan Palm Beach suit and black Jazbo tie, the Rev. Finis Jennings Dake greeted his flock in the Christian Assembly church at Zion yesterday for the first time since he was freed last week from the Milwaukee house of correction. He served five months there for violating the Mann act.

The church was not quite filled for the homecoming sermon and the tall parson seemed to be a little doubtful of his welcome. He spoke softly and his sermon was short.

"I believe that I have been hardened rather than broken by the tests the Lord has given me," he told his congregation.

The Rev. Mr. Dake was convicted of taking a Kenosha, Wis., girl, 16 years old, to a hotel in East St. Louis in 1935.

30 Tires of Wedding Guests Slashed; Suspect Arrested

Wedding guests at the hall at 9250 Dobson avenue, who found their automobile tires slashed this morning, pounced upon Joseph Bronski, 23 years old, 26 East 101st street, whom they suspected as the vandal. Bronski earlier had attempted to crash the party, and was put out. He retaliated by slashing the screen door with a knife. The guests followed him out. Then they noticed that the tires on thirty of the forty parked cars on the grounds had been damaged. Since Bronski had displayed a knife, they suspected he had cut the tires. Burnside police took Bronski into custody. He denied the tire slashing. A friend, Thomas Kengal, 25, of 9242 Dobson avenue, was also held.

Two Robbers Trail Couple; Take Wife's $800 Diamond

One of two bandits who had been trailing them in a car held up Mr. and Mrs. John E. Linehan as they stepped into the vestibule of their home at 8246 Maryland avenue late last night. He took a diamond ring, valued at $800, and a handbag containing $2 from Mrs. Linehan, and $20 from Mr. Linehan. Then he escaped with his companion, who had been waiting in their car at the curb. Mr. Linehan is south division superintendent for the People's Gas Light & Coke company.

Scalded in Quarrel After Dance, Wife, 70, Sues Mate

Charging that her husband, Charles J. Howard, 68 years old, scalded her with hot tea because she danced with another man at an old timers' dance, Mrs. Elizabeth Howard, 70, will seek a divorce today in the Aurora City court. The suit, filed Saturday, was set for hearing today by Judge Walter J. O'Malley. The couple, married in 1926, went to separate Aurora homes last June 7.

FURCH RETRIAL MOTION TO BE HEARD AUG. 3

A motion for a retrial of Dr. Frank J. Furch, convicted Saturday of the murder last Feb. 26 of Mrs. Norma Schmidt, his second divorced wife, will be heard Aug. 3, Judge Rudolph F. Desort indicated yesterday.

Furch's attorney, Samuel A. Hoffman, said he will seek a new trial on the grounds that letters from the slain woman to Furch were not permissible evidence. They were obtained, he said, while the chiropodist was under the influence of opiates.

If the motion is denied and Furch is sentenced to the 14 years fixed by the jury, he will be eligible for discharge after eight years and three months if his behavior is perfect.

2,500 Attend Burial Rites for Dr. Abram Coralink

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—More than 2,500 perons attended a funeral service today for Dr. Abram Coralink, associate editor of the Jewish Day, Yiddish language daily newspaper. Dr. Coralink, a widely known writer and Zionist leader, died Friday of a heart ailment at the Mount Kisco [N. Y.] hospital at the age of 54.

He over-ate and he over-drank but what about next morning?

A too-hearty meal... and all that goes with it. Then the discomfort of stomach distress... gas pains, sour, acid indigestion, upset stomach and simple diarrhea. And tomorrow he must preside at an important business meeting!

He took Pepto-Bismol. Here he is—back on the job next morning—master of the situation.

Never upset an upset stomach with drastic, irritating physics and purges. The proper way to treat an upset stomach is to soothe and quiet it. That's what Pepto-Bismol does. GEO. B. FRENCH, BROKER AND RAIL MAGNATE, DIES

Collapses at His Home in Midst of Card Game.

Southampton, N. Y., July 18.—[Special.—George Barton French, retired broker and railroad president, died last night of a heart attack at his country place here. He was 73.

Apparently in the best of health and spirits, having recovered from a slight illness earlier in the season, Mr. French had spent the afternoon at golf. He dined quietly at home and was in the midst of a card game when he collapsed and died.

His father, Seth Barton French, who died in 1887, was a partner of the senior J. Pierpont Morgan. French left Columbia after two years and entered Princeton, where he was graduated in 1884. He went into the brokerage business and became a member of the New York Stock exchange. He sold his seat on the exchange in 1893 and went to Chicago, where he became associated with the Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Paul railroad.

It was while in Chicago that French became associated with the late Joseph Leiter in the latter's famous attempt to raise the price of wheat. According to rumors circulated at that time, French saved his future by getting out of the venture before P. D. Armour's selling blocked the enterprise.

Death List Reaches 107 in Calcutta Express Wreck

PATNA, India, July 18.—(AP)—The death list in the wreck of the Calcutta express reached 107 persons today as authorities continued their investigation of one of the worst rail disasters in India's history. The dead included six women and one child. Sixty-five persons were injured. The engine and seven coaches plunged over an embankment fifteen miles from Patna yesterday.

OLIVER OWEN KUHN, NOTED EDITOR, FORUM BROADCASTER, DIES

Washington, D. C., July 18.—(AP)—Oliver Owen Kuhn, managing editor of the Washington Evening Star and chairman of the executive committee of the Associated Press Managing Editors' association, died today.

Oliver O. Kuhn.

Kuhn, 51 years old, was known nationally for his broadcasts on the Star's National Radio forum. As founder and director of that Monday public discussion hour he introduced to the nation members of the Presidents' cabinets and of congress and others high in official life.

His wide newspaper experience took him from the news editorship of the Richmond, Ind., Palladium to correspondent at the Versailles peace conference and eventually to the managing editorship of the Star. He had been employed on the Indianapolis News, the Indianapolis Sun, and other papers.

Kuhn's foreign reporting brought him into a close friendship with President Wilson.

Mackinac Is Again Haven of Chicagoans

BY JUDITH CASS.

EDWARD A. CUDAHY'S large house on Mackinac Island is not the gay place this summer that it has been in previous years, for Mrs. Cudahy died just last spring, but it is not a lonely place for Mr. Cudahy, for his large family is taking turning in being with him. One of his daughters, Mrs. Vaughan C. Spalding of Lake Forest, has been on the island for some time; another one, Mrs. John Noble Stearns Jr. of New York, went up on the train from Chicago last Friday night with Mr. Cudahy Jr., whose family is spending the summer in Watch Hill, R. I.

Mrs. Stearns had been visiting another sister, Mrs. Austin H. Niblack, in Lake Forest for several days before she went north with her brother. Mrs. Niblack will go to Mackinac in August and so will her other sister, Mrs. Frank E. Wilhelm, who is expected in Chicago this week from a trip abroad with Mr. Wilhelm.

Handsome Home on a Beautiful Island.

The Cudahy home at Mackinac is one of the handsomest on the island, which has only nine miles of shore line and which is one of the most beautiful places in this part of the world. To approach it by boat [the only way in which it can be approached] is a never-to-be-forgotten sight, especially if the day be clear. The outstanding thing is Old Fort Mackinac, although the Grand hotel runs it a close second, for this huge, high, white pillared building on the bluff dominates the whole scene.

From the porch of this famous old hotel, which celebrated its 50th anniversary on July 10, one feels as though one were on a reviewing stand for the parade of ships that sail the Straits of Mackinac and two of the Great Lakes, Michigan and Huron. The hotel was at its busiest, if not its best, when we visited it on the 10th, for there was a Michigan Democratic convention meeting in it and there were 800 at the banquet that night. Of them, 680 remained to sleep in the hotel, the others taking special cruisers to Mackinaw City or St. Ignace for the night.

Old Fort Stands High on Bluff.

Old Fort Mackinac, built by the British in 1780, is the oldest standing United States army fort in the United States. It now is open to the public, free of charge, under the sponsorship of the Mackinac Island state park commission, and Michigan Eagle Scouts conduct visitors through the ancient block houses, guard house, officers' quarters, spiked stockade, and ramparts. The fort is so beautifully situated high on the bluff that it appears as though it had been set there to enhance the view of the island that one gets from the deck of an approaching boat, rather than for military purposes.

There are no automobiles allowed on the island. The roads are narrow and winding, and the horse remains king there. Bicycling, of course, is a favorite method of locomotion and horseback riding is a popular recreation. The Chicago colony is not large, but it is a loyal one, for all who summer there have been going to the island for years.

Craig Mawr Summer Home of Cochrans.

The John L. Cochrans have a lovely place on the island which they call Craig Mawr. Or, rather, Mr. Cochran's parents called it that, for it belonged to them before the Jack Cochrans and their two daughters started summering there. The Billings McArthurs are occupying Maple lodge, the home of the late Dr. and Mrs. Lewis L. McArthur, and near by is Rockwood, the home of Dr. and Mrs. Selim W. McArthur and their daughters, Miss Joan and subdeb Betty. Mrs. Selim McArthur's garden is considered by many the prettiest on the island.

Dr. Hugh T. Patrick and his daughter, Miss Catherine, left last Friday to open their Mackinac Island home. The William Warren Dixons have rented their house on the island for the season, for they are summering at Fish Creek on the Door peninsula in Wisconsin.

Mrs. George F. McLaughlin has been visiting Mrs. Cochran for the last ten days, but is expected to return to Lake Forest early this week.

Ellen Munster Engaged to Richard Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Munster gave a cocktail party at their home in Winnetka yesterday to announce the engagement of their daughter, Ellen Gene, to Richard L. Williams Jr., son of Richard L. Williams and

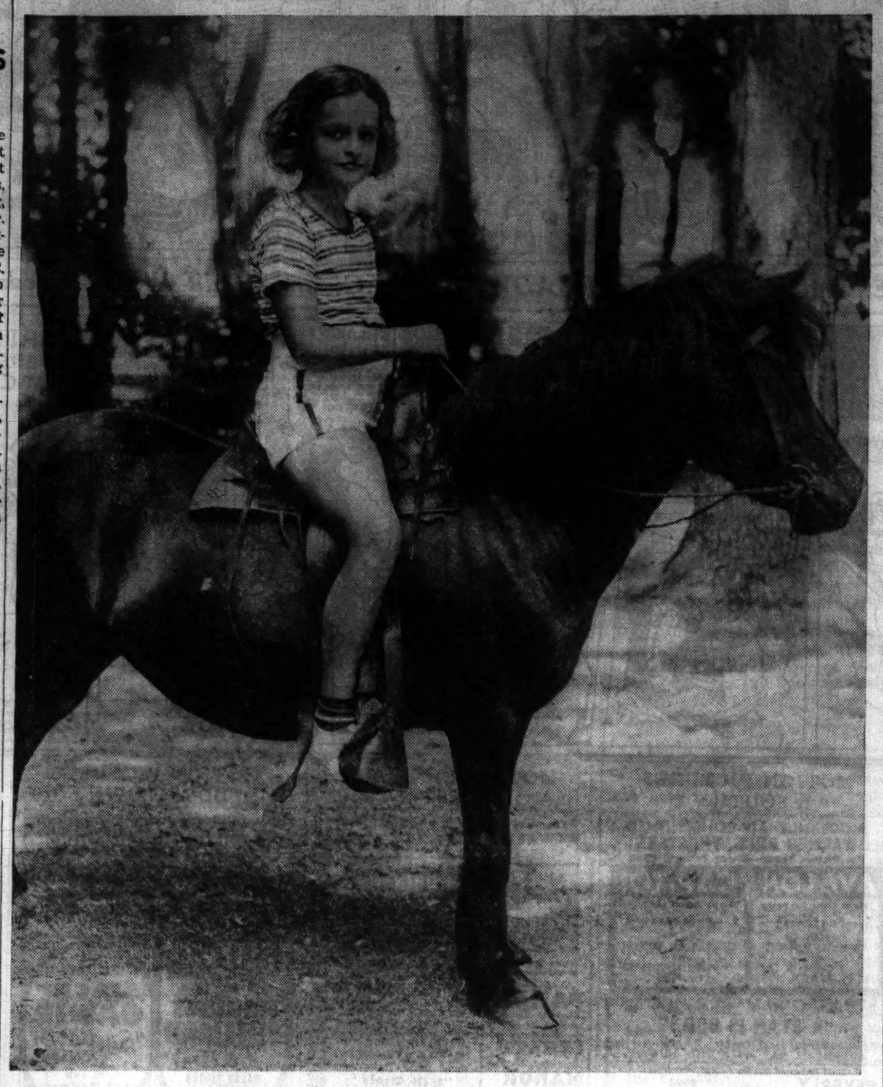
At Orphanage Benefit Party



[TRIBUNE Photo.]

This attractive picture was made Saturday at the benefit held at Belorme, Mrs. Harry M. McIntosh's Lake Forest estate, for the Lake Bluff Orphanage. Mrs. Alden B. Swift was general chairman of the affair. There were luncheon and tea, a fashion show in which some of Lake Forest's prettiest post-debs and children took part, and many sorts of entertainment for youngsters. The cameraman found Miss Betty Swift riding Lady Fair and enjoying every minute.

Nantucket Island, with its old shingled houses stained satiny gray by sea-wind and salt, each with its "widow's walk" atop, although no longer paced by anxious watchers for homing whalers as they were in the great days of the island's whaling trade. . . . A Cape Cod visit and more gray shingled cottages, one of them the 200 year old Charles B. Goodspeed house with its "chicken ladder" stairway to the upper bedrooms. . . . A New York wedding with the bride and bridegroom as lovely and gallant as a storybook pair and the reception afterward at the Cosmopolitan club ending in whirling waltzes and even a small girl, looking like a child by Renoir, dancing with a silver-haired relative. . . . The bridal dinner the preceding night at New York's handsome River club, with young and old toasting the bridal pair. . . . The deer that sprang across our path motoring up the Hudson and the magnificence of the scenery along the Storm King highway. . . . A New England motor tour through white and green elm-shaded towns.

Boston, and the purple glass panes in the windows of the old mansions on Beacon street overlooking the Commons. They were early Sandwich glass that, defective, changed color, and that now, evidence of age and tradition, are a badge of distinction. Sometimes purple panes are put into windows of new apartments, in emulation of the Beacon street panes. . . . The "frog pond" in the Commons, and the swan boats in which every Boston child goes for a ride. . . . The outdoor concert of the Boston Symphony orchestra on the Charles river esplanade with ten thousand listeners. . . . The small party afterwards, at which Arthur Fiedler, the conductor, was an entertaining guest. . . . A trip to Concord and visits to the Old Manse, to Orchard house, the home of "Little Women" and to the Antiquarian society to see Emerson's study, Thoreau's bed and table, eighteenth century furnishings and a diorama of the Concord fight.

AS we passed along Beacon street in Boston I made comment on the beauty of the old trees in the Commons, and our hostess smiled wryly. There had been an uncle in her husband's family who was both rich and stingy, she said. He was so grasping that when his coal was delivered he went out with a dustpan to sweep up the coal dust because that, too, belonged to him. But he was a relative, and rich, and it behooved the family to keep in his good graces. Every Sunday her husband, as a lad, went to call on his old uncle at his parents' behest. But when the old uncle died, his will revealed that he had bequeathed his entire fortune to the upkeep of the trees in Boston Commons.

THE magnificence of the views at Bar Harbor and Mount Desert; the beauty of the White mountains, and of the Connecticut valley in New Hampshire and Vermont are highlights of this holiday. Motoring in Vermont, a sign at a cross-roads indicated the Coolidge highway, with an arrow pointing toward Plymouth, the birthplace of the late President. We turned off to traverse the pretty country road to Plymouth and were glad afterward we had done so, for the scene at the Coolidge birthplace was both touching and humorous. Vermont maple sugar, home tatting made by the old Coolidge housekeeper, and postcards are being sold from the table at which Calvin Coolidge was sworn in as President of the United States by his father in that dramatic, lamplit scene at dead of night. And in the white building across the street, where Coolidge was born, a candy store is doing business. It also is Western Union headquarters, and a black cat about to have kittens sat from force of habit beside an iron stove in the center of the store.

A boyhood friend of Calvin Coolidge, standing in the road, takes all newcomers in tow and volunteers to tell them what is what in the vicinity "without a cent of charge." A little booklet, to which he draws attention, written by himself, "Calvin Coolidge from the Farm to the White House," sells for a quarter, and undoubtedly every person to whom he points out the sights buys a copy. Surely Coolidge, asleep in the family lot in the graveyard across the way, his grave marked by one of twenty-two stones in a straight line identifying six generations of Coolidges, would smile his wry smile could he see the thriving activity surrounding his birthplace and home, and be pleased at the homely American spirit that still pervades the place.

Marion Claire Pleased with Movie Debut

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., July 18.—[Special.]—Opera star Marion Claire and the movies had decided to take a chance together when she came here from Chicago to make her first picture. Miss Claire was willing to take a chance on the movies for one film, because she knew they would present the widest audience for her combination of lovely voice and lovely looks. And besides, there was the salary.

The movies, represented by Sol Lesser of Principal Pictures, were willing to take a chance on Miss Claire for one picture, because they knew she would enhance the beauty value of any scene she appeared in, and has a voice that would please.

Now Miss Claire has finished her first film, and she, Lesser, her co-stars in "Make a Wish"—Bobby Breen, 9-year old singing precocity, and Basil Rathbone—Director Kurt Neumann, and Composer Oscar Straus, all are so happy about it that they look forward to future pictures.

"If you had asked me three weeks ago what I thought about the movies, I might really have said something strong, and that would have been too bad, because my ideas have changed since then," Miss Claire told us, while she supervised the work of her colored maid, her little boy's nurse, and a couple of attendants of the apartment house, in their bustling efforts to get everything packed to rush back to family life in Lake Bluff, Ill.

"What got me," Miss Claire said, "was my start in the movies last spring. I came out here for two or three weeks. I stayed five months. I came here expecting to be a good sport and not act like a pampered opera star. You know, if you are in the opera, you stay in bed the day before your appearances, and you stay the day following your rôle, and you have people fetch your breakfast and smooth your pillow, and your manager walks primly around being sympathetic and saying: 'Poor girl, I'm afraid she is in a draft.'

"My initiation took place right after I arrived in Hollywood. I thought I would have a night sleep and talk things over with the studio people and get ready for my big picture debut after the week-end. But at 6:30 o'clock next morning the studio car was there to take me on location. Well, we shot scenes all day, and it was 4 o'clock the following morning when the studio car drove me back home. Of course, I thought I would be home in bed all that day getting ready for my appearance on the radio the following morning. The radio appearance was to be Sunday. But the car called at 6:30 a. m. Saturday after I got in at 4 a. m., and something made it necessary to work most of the way through that night as well as all day.

"The location was at Lake Malibu, and that lake that night seemed much colder than Lake Michigan ever seemed on any zero night in January.

"Well, I got back home again Sunday morning, the third day after arriving in Hollywood. I had had about three hours of sleep in two days. I had only about time enough to bathe, change my clothes, and get to the radio studio about 10 a. m. to begin rehearsals for the day's important program with Rubinoff. I kept on rehersing until the minute to go on with the actual radio program at 2 p. m., and when I was through and pretty nearly dead there was the studio car waiting to take me somewhere again about 5 p. m. I now know that there are times when any one working in pictures has to go through such things. But to Claire, the pampered opera star, her experiences at that time were unbelievable."

Now that her first picture is completed, and the local reviews have been flattering, Miss Claire feels differently about the tribulations of a cinema star. "Sure I intend to make another picture," she says. "I don't know when, or how, or where, but I certainly intend to."

During her stay in Hollywood Miss Claire, who in private life is Mrs. Henry Weber, wife of the music director of W-G-N, handled the completion of the new family home which is a French Normandy mansion at Lake Bluff. She did it by long distance.

Prefer Brunettes in Television; (But Blondes Will Get Along)

OUT?

Alice Faye [top], Anita Louise [center], and Madeleine Carroll, blonde film actresses of type called unsuited to television.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 18.—(AP)—Movie theaters, it was said today, will not have to worry about television for a long time to come. The main reason is that television waves are not flexible like radio waves. They must travel in a straight line. But in the meantime blondes can start wondering what will happen to them when television is as common as the telephone.

"The limit for television now is less than 50 miles," said Harry R. Lubcke, director of the television division of a Southern California broadcasting system. He is making television broadcasts daily, using motion picture film exclusively.

"There are only a few stations sending now," said Lubcke. "We are practically alone in the west. To effect a national chain, special cables would have to be laid at a tremendous cost, and many relay stations placed across the country."

Looking ahead, he said he believed movie stars who thought they would find another gold mine in television were due for a rude shock—especially the blondes.

"I believe a new type of actor will be trained especially for television,' said Lubcke, "because the highly paid players in the studios won't work for the amounts likely to be offered."

"The dark haired players will get the 'breaks,' although some blondes, if their facial coloring is satisfactory, might be suitable."

Acting, he said, would necessarily be limited to small stages, with few props. It is possible now to send a 6 by 7 inch image, and in three years, Lubcke predicted, it will grow to 24 by 24 inches.

[Mr. Lubcke did not mention persons with auburn hair. They photograph as brunettes.]

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

There are more ways than one by which a lady with nerve who uses her noodle can manage to "live on strawberries, sugar and cream" consistently, e'en though the exchequer is low.

This fact is demonstrated to you by Miss Rochelle Hudson in the Oriental's current photoplay.

"She Had To Eat" is the lightest sort of summer fare—with a growl. Meaning it couldn't get away from the gangster influence. There is in the film everything from a cottontail desert rabbit to a lunatic. BUT—

It's skillfully acted, deals out a laugh or two, and a song or two. Dialog's not bad. SO—

You should be able to pass an hour away quite pleasantly viewing "She Had To Eat" in the nice, cool Oriental theater.

Duchin, McCormic to Be Grant Park Concert Guests

Eddy Duchin, dance band leader, will make a special guest appearance in the Grant park band shell at 7:30 o'clock this evening, playing a group of piano selections as a prelude to the evening concert.

Mary McCormic, operatic soprano, will sing as guest soloist with Carlton Kelsey and his CBS symphony orchestra tomorrow evening. It will be her only appearance on the concert series this season.

Porter Heaps was guest organist last night and will continue through next Sunday.

Polish Music Acclaimed on Two Programs

BY CECIL M. SMITH.

Through a wholly unplanned coincidence yesterday's two major musical events were turned into something of a Polish festival. At Grant park P. A. Cavallo and his symphonic band last evening entertained as guest artists the Nowe Zycie male chorus, first prize winners in the 1937 national contest of Polish male choirs, with Zdzislaw Skubikowski, their talented young conductor. A crowd estimated at 50,000, the largest of the season, attended.

At Ravinia Park, in the afternoon, Hans Kindler devoted the last half of his farewell program as guest conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra to works by Polish composers. Four Polish dances by Alexander Tansman were heard for the first time in Chicago. The other two Polish scores, Ludomir Rozycki's symphonic poem, "Anhelli," and the mazurka from Moniuszko's opera, "Strasny Dvor," were played for the first time by the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

The Tansman dances quickly won the approval of the audience. The first movement is an infractious modernized polka, full of syncopation and added beats thrown in to disturb the expected rhythmic regularity. The two middle movements, in subdued lyric vein, are a good foil for the ribald last dance, a spirited movement making interesting capital of the old Lydian mode with its F sharp where we usually think an F natural ought to be.

Rozycki's "Anhelli" is far inferior to the Tansman dances as an expression of the Polish spirit in music. Its program was suggested by a Polish narrative poem of prison life in Siberia. Here, however, all its national integrity ends. The actual music is no more than a cosmopolitan attempt to reproduce the flamboyant dramatic style of decadent German music of the late nineteenth century.

The mazurka from "Strasny Dvor" which concluded the program was the real thing, lilting, deservedly popular dance music.

Before the intermission Mr. Kindler conducted Glinka's overture to "Russlan and Ludmilla" and Beethoven's Fifth symphony. The Washington conductor's reading of the familiar Beethoven symphony outlined its massive structure with sturdy contours. Except in the slow movement, taken too slowly, the playing speeds were excellent. Yet the performance was the least satisfactory one Mr. Kindler has given here. It was too loud, ever so much too loud. The conductor badly misjudged the acoustics of the shell and called forth from the orchestra in the final just about the most deafening mass of round I have ever heard an orchestra produce.

Despite this single error in judgment Mr. Kindler has given an excellent account of his gifts in his four concerts at Ravinia Park. His knowledge of standard scores is fully dependable, and his skill is sufficient to enable him to give a masterly performance of such a new score as "Anhelli" on the basis of only four days' acquaintance. Let us hope that he will return again soon to let us see more aspects of his broad musical personality.

SYNOPSIS.

On his return from abroad Michael Eden, heir to millions, postpones his marriage to Katharine McCann because his foster father, John Millis, tells him his foster mother is ill and needs him. Katharine's roommate, Joan, is engaged to Michael's friend, Terry Newton. From all sides Katharine is warned to break Michael away from John Millis. Millis asks Michael to sign a will making him Michael's heir. Michael signs, expecting to change the will after his marriage to Katharine. Mrs. Millis attempts suicide when she discovers her husband flirting with her nurse. Michael rescues her and agrees to take her away from Millis. Millis tricks Katharine into a ride with him and forces his kisses on her. Amos Newton, uncle of Terry, believes that Millis killed Terry's father, who was Michael's co-guardian. Michael returns to the home of Amos Newton and Katharine and he plan to be married next day, though Michael is not well. That night Michael, in delirium, returns to the Millis home, desperately ill with typhoid fever. Katharine obtains Dr Kittredge to attend him. He refuses to send Michael to a hospital, though he installs his own assistants.

INSTALMENT XXXI.

CRIMINAL EVIDENCE.

"Is there nothing you would ask of me if I hadn't gone and hurt your feelings?" Kittredge liked the dour gentleman whom he was bullying so mercilessly.

"Yes," replied Amos. "Please do not relax your watchfulness in a single detail, no matter how utterly you are convinced of the nobility of John Millis. Send us frequent bulletins. If Michael asks for any of us—especially if he calls for Katharine McCann, send for the person he wishes to see, unless you think seeing that person would be bad for Michael."

"That goes for John Millis?"

"Certainly. I suggest that in every case the nurse should not leave the room."

"I promise."

"That's all. Thank you, for all of us."

Amos turned quickly, and left the room so swiftly that Kittredge did not even have a chance to go with him to the door. The doctor shook his head anxiously.

"Poor fellow!" he murmured. "Poor fellow! He will be in an institution soon."

Then he scowled, in an effort to recall something which had troubled him all day. Where the devil had he seen the little nurse before—the nurse whom Millis had installed—the Sykes woman? But he could not recollect.

The girl listened attentively to his account.

"Well," she said reflectively, "I think we have no reason to worry over anything which John Millis will do to Michael at present. If Michael is so ill, it is obviously to John Millis' interest to let nature do his job for him. Until Michael shows signs, definite signs, of recovery, I think Millis will keep his hands off. In the meanwhile——"

"Yes?"

"We'd better get the goods on John Millis."

With all the sorrow that was in his heart, Newton was forced to smile at the girl who was facing him.

"Where did you get this stern, practical side, Katharine?" he asked. "I do not know this young woman."

Katharine stared slightly.

"You know very little about me," she said grimly. "Not many people do. They just aren't interested. It's no secret. Michael knows all there is to know. My mother died when I was ten years old, a wild, spoiled, harum-scarum ten year old. Somebody had to keep house. I did it."

"I wanted to know about you," said Amos.

"Father was a helpless dreamy poet who worked in a wholesale coffee house. When he got his pay mother had always pocketed it at once, and we had lived very comfortably. When mother died I found out why she handled the money. Father would stop whenever he had a cent in his pocket, and buy whatever appealed to him, from first editions to red neckties."

"So you took over his wages?"

"I did. At ten and a half. I learned a lot of arithmetic in a short time. I made terrible mistakes, but I learned."

"When did your father die?" Newton asked.

"I was in high school. Mother had insured his life, and we had kept up the insurance, so we had some money, my younger brother and I. I paid up the debts, sold the contents of a ramshackle ten-room house." She smiled mischievously. "Was my own auctioneer. Then we moved into two nice rooms, my brother and I, and lived happily ever after. It's a commonplace tale. Hundreds of girls have been less fortunate. Chris is in college now, and could work his way through, as I did, if I would let him. I have quit my job. I want to control my time for the next few weeks."

Newton looked at her very straight.

"May I put money at your disposal, Katharine?" he asked.

"I'll come to you if I need it. Without a moment's hesitation. I know no finer gentleman. But I'm safe for a few weeks."

He liked the girl's hardy pride.

"What you can do for me," Katharine volunteered, "is tell me anything that you have been holding out about John Millis."

"You think the friendship will stand the strain?" Newton asked dryly. "My dearest friends seem to find me difficult to endure."

"I'll risk it."

"Shall we say anything more of the circumstances of my brother's death?"

"You might tell me once more what slight circumstantial evidence you had, apart from your brother's message."

"Almost nothing. Miss Sargent, the nurse, obviously lied. It was generally attributed to excitement, due to my distracted accusations." Newton was smiling, a thin-lipped, angry smile at the mere remembrance. "There was the fact, never explained, of the disappearance of the medicine glass, a beautiful little glass of Swedish crystal with which I had been familiar from childhood. My brother's wife had given it to Charley, to console him, she said, for having to take medicine. Then there was the strange fact that he could not talk."

"That is all?"

"That is all."

"Do you know anything more to make you distrust the man?"

"Yes. I went to Alabama to look up his family. They live in the country about thirty miles from Montgomery. He comes of old stock, interesting people, avowed enemies of society as far back as we can trace them. They lie and cheat and steal. They kill quite indifferently. They gamble and drink, and are highly successful with women.

"John is their one black sheep. At an early age he seems to have decided that respectability was worth the price, and he turned respectable. Any member of his family would shoot him at sight. But in Montgomery the attitude is different. They tell you that John is a dandy fellow, and 'pretty straight'."

"How about Mrs. Millis?"

"She is the last word in respectability. She was John's first great triumph. At that she seems to have been generally envied, because of John's good looks and winning ways."

"That was all you learned from the trip?"

"No."

Katharine looked over alertly. Newton's tone caught her attention.

"At my direction, the body of Mrs. Eden was exhumed. I have the sworn statement of three competent chemists that there is present in the body an incredible amount of poison, enough to have killed a family."

Katharine sat in stunned silence.

"She is a sad little figure, Michael's young mother," she said in a somewhat stifled voice. "I hope he never needs to know it."

She looked thoughtfully at Amos Newton. He looked so tired as to look shrunken and little and old.

"You have lived with this for a long time, haven't you," she said, unmistakable tenderness in her sweet young voice. "You should baby yourself a little if you can. I shall now get you some lunch. Don't refuse," she said, a little impatiently. "It will be good for both of us."

Beautiful Teeth Are Created During the Childhood Years

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

It's the wish of every mother that her child have strong, even teeth. But how many mothers are aware that many cases of crooked teeth could be avoided were the proper precautions taken while the child is very young! Uneven teeth should be corrected. When there are teeth irregularities it isn't possible to chew food properly and disturbances of digestion are bound to result.

It also is important from the beauty angle. The child with crooked or protruding teeth will be reminded of it by her playmates, for children do not hesitate to comment, and often very cruelly, upon the unusual. "O, you have buck teeth," or "your teeth aren't straight like mine" are not unusual comments, and while the child may say nothing at the time, a constant reference to her tooth irregularity is bound to make her self-conscious and cause her much unhappiness.

First teeth should not be considered lightly. It is important they be given the same careful attention as the permanent teeth, for they have an important work to perform. Back of the first teeth are to be found the permanent teeth, just waiting to take their places when the first teeth are pulled or drop out. These first teeth must be cared for, in order that they may hold their positions for the required time, saving that particular space for the permanent teeth which are later to take their places.

If the first tooth is lost before its time, and before the permanent tooth is ready to come through, there will not be the proper spacing, with the result that there may be irregular jaw formation and crooked teeth. To prevent such a possibility, let every mother take her child to the dentist twice a year. The child needs good first teeth for the proper chewing of her food, an essential to her health and development.

When small cavities appear they should be filled. The importance of this can't be too strongly stressed, not only for the proper spacing of permanent teeth but also because decayed teeth are sources of infection and the poisons, in this way, may get into the system either through the blood stream or through swallowing.

Don't neglect that twice a year visit to the dentist with your child. It's not expensive, and it may save you a great deal of money later on. Tooth straightening is expensive and takes a long time to accomplish.

Thirty slenderizing exercises are described and illustrated in the booklet, "West Point Exercises." They can help you reduce hips and waist and give you poise and smart appearance. Get a copy today at either of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower. Price, 5 cents. Postpaid, 7 cents.

Small Child Often Subject to Many Fears

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Last week after writing a general article on the fears of children I promised that the subject would be continued this Monday.

Little children experience many fears, and it is not surprising that they should. They not only feel the fears we see them give evidence of, but others we do not. I won't go into that further just now; but for the interest and perhaps reassurance of parents of small children, I want to mention some of the fears that babies and children have been known to feel.

The baby expresses fear when he is not sure of support.

Fear of loud, strange, roaring, or sudden noises is very common. How many mothers have seen their small children terrified by the vacuum cleaner, an airplane, the sharp sudden sound of a dog's barking, or a telephone or door bell ringing? A small child I knew, who adored visiting pet shops, was always afraid of the big brilliant macaws [parrots] that emit those raucous sounds.

Or it may have been the big parrots' faces he didn't like, for children are afraid of grotesque or grimacing faces. Some people affect children unpleasantly for this reason. The odd fear of feathers is not by any means a rare fear, as some parents think.

Not all these fears can be prevented. Some of them are natural enough, and pass as the child grows in understanding and experience.

Mexican Rose.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Mexican Rose" is one of the newcomers to the quilt ranks and always is shown in gay, vivid colors and in combinations of printed and plain materials. It is one of those simple appliqué patterns which the beginning quiltmaker may finish in a short space of time, because it is not too difficult. True to the old quilt rule that no two patterns ever are cut alike, this design of Mexican rose does not require the amount of needlework nor does it have as many patches as two other popular blocks of the same name and design. A finished quilt containing 13 appliqué and 12 plain blocks and surrounded by a two inch border measures 92 inches square.

A woman may be forgiven complacency if that complacency comes from watching her cupboard shelves fill up like a dry creek bed after a rain. And she may be forgiven if this complacency amounts almost to smugness every time her preserving kettle turns out a new row of neatly labeled glasses and jars for those shelves. Smugness for such a reason is offensive to no one.

There is something deeply satisfying about putting up one's own jams, jellies, pickles and relishes, and about lining them, group by group, along a shelf. They may be made a few pints or half pints at a cooking as the time, the supply of fruit or vegetables, and the mood are favorable. Relishes to add glamor to next fall's beef roasts shouldn't be neglected in the rush to put up bread spreads. How about a few jars of beet or cucumber relish, for instance?

Beet Relish.

4 cups chopped cooked beets
4 cups finely chopped cabbage
2 cups sugar
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon black pepper
¾ cup grated horseradish
Mild vinegar

PICKLED CARROTS.

Choose young carrots of uniform size. Wash but do not scrape. Boil until the skins slip. Remove skins and cover with a boiling sirup made as follows: Combine 4 cups vinegar, 4 cups sugar, 1 tablespoon whole cloves, 1 tablespoon whole allspice, 1 tablespoon mace, 1 short stick cinnamon [spices should be placed in a bag] and boil for 5 minutes.

Allow the carrots to stand overnight in the sirup. Bring to a boil, boil for 5 minutes, remove spice bag, and pack into clean jars. Fill jar to within a half inch of the top with the hot spiced sirup, and seal.

Cucumber Relish.

12 large cucumbers
4 green peppers
4 large onions
½ cup salt
1 cup horseradish
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon mustard seed
1 tablespoon celery seed
White vinegar

Peel cucumbers, quarter and remove seeds. Put all vegetables through food chopper. Add salt, mix well, and let stand overnight. In the morning, drain and add grated horseradish. Add other seasonings, and vinegar to cover. Pack tightly in jars and seal at once.

Pepper Relish.

12 sweet red peppers
12 green peppers
12 onions
2 cups vinegar
2 cups sugar
3 tablespoons salt
1 tablespoon mustard seed

Chop peppers and onions. Cover with boiling water and let stand 5 minutes. Drain, add vinegar, sugar and salt. Boil mixture for 5 minutes. Pour into clean, hot jars and seal.

Uncooked Cabbage and Pepper Relish.

6 green peppers
1 red pepper
1 large head cabbage
3 tablespoons white mustard seed
2 tablespoons salt
1 cup sugar
Vinegar

Grind the peppers and chop the cabbage finely. Mix all ingredients thoroughly, adding enough vinegar to cover the relish. Pour into sterile jar, and seal. The addition of 2 medium onions, chopped, gives a flavor variation.

Swim Suit Easy to Make

WOMAN'S AND MISS' SWIM SUIT.

Prints are the thing this year as never before, and swim suits are the latest garments to take advantage of the fashion. Smart women have taken to making their own bathing suits this season, because they really are simple to sew. The one illustrated today is so simple that you can "run it up" in a jiffy and appear on the beach in it a coupe of hours after breakfast the morning you make it. Of course, all the attractive cottons, linens and heavy silks featured in the shops are perfect for this model, and you may satisfy your economical soul by using a discarded summer frock's material for the suit.

Style No. 2524 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36, and 38 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 2¾ yards of 39 inch material, with ⅝ yard of 54 inch lining for the halter.

WholeTown Gapes at Hope Diamond Worn on Streets

Central City, Colo., July 18.—(AP)—Central City's annual play festival found competition for attention today from an unexpected source—the Hope diamond owned by Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean of Washington. Mrs. McLean, whose father dug a fortune from Colorado gold mines, is making her first visit to the six year old play festival. She strolled about the narrow sidewalks, the famous diamond, nearly as large as a silver dollar, gleaming against her flowered dress.

Attitude on War to Test Unity of Protestant Church

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

OXFORD, July 18.—A major test of Protestant church unity will be precipitated tomorrow when delegates from all parts of the world attending the conference on church, community, and state begin drafting their pronouncement on the Christian attitude toward war.

For a week a committee of five members, including two Americans, has been considering recommendations which they included in a program still held confidential, but which it is understood contains ten major statements of principle. With these they hope to find a basis for agreement among viewpoints as varied as though the church conference were an international political gathering.

The committee has considered suggestions advanced by clergymen and historians and other laymen varying from the extreme pacifist view that Christians should refuse to support any war to a proposal for an armed force policing the whole world. War studies have been carried on by a subcommittee of which Dr. John Mackay, president of the Princeton Theological seminary, is chairman.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

The slam zone begins at a point where a game seems certain and partner's bidding has not yet limited the value of his hand. For instance:

South	North
1 heart	2 spades

South holds ♠ Q 6 5 2 ♥ A Q J 8 5 ♦ A 6 3 ♣ 10. Although he has only three honor tricks, he knows his partner's minimum is three and one-half. The total of six and one-half, with South's unbalanced distribution, puts him in the slam zone.

Inferences from bidding that indicate slam possibilities are of two kinds, indirect [mild] and direct [strong]. Any strength showing bid conveys indirectly a slam inference. Among such bids are game forcing bids and take-outs, jump no trump take-outs, and raises from one to three. All of these show a certain minimum number of honor tricks which, added to partner's opening bid of one, assure game and, if the distribution is favorable and rebid honors are available, may lead to a successful small or grand slam.

The indirect slam inferences merely keep in mind the possibility of a slam and try to explore the ground without risking a higher contract than game.

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 diamonds	Pass	3 no trump will discourage South
		4 diamonds will encourage him

How to Play a No Trump Hand

NORTH
♠ Q 6
♥ K J 10
♦ K 7 4

WEST
♠ 8 7 5
♥ Q 6 4 3
♦ Q 10 5 3
♣ Q 9

EAST
♠ K J 10 9 3
♦ J 9 2
♣ K 10 4

SOUTH
♥ A 9 5 2
♣ A J 8

West opens the spade eight. South counts his sure winners and finds six in all. A successful finesse for the heart queen will add two winners. Even if the finesse loses, one additional winner can be developed simply by giving up a trick to the heart queen. In spades, a finesse can be taken for the king by playing the queen from dummy. If this finesse and the heart finesse are successful, the three necessary winners are found; but with only one finesse successful, establishment of the long club suit will be necessary. Since the spade finesse must be attempted at once, South plays the queen from dummy. East covers with the king.

South decides that the lead of the spade eight probably shows a short suit, so that East has five or more spades. South therefore attempts a holdup play. He allows East to win the first trick with the spade king. East next leads the spade jack, and South again holds up. A third round of spades is won by South's ace, dummy discarding the diamond four. In order to establish clubs South must lose two tricks, unless East has the ♣ K Q, in which case the contract is lost anyway. To keep East out of the lead, South must duck two rounds of clubs into West's hand.

South needs three entries to the North hand. Twice he must lead clubs, then he must return to dummy to cash the established long suit winners. Dummy has two sure entries, the heart king and diamond king. But here a graver menace than the established spade suit appears. East and West already have taken two tricks. They must be given two more in clubs. While South saves two stoppers in diamonds, they cannot establish the setting trick in that suit, but if South gives up a diamond stopper, with their two entries they can establish the diamond suit. South must therefore find the entries he needs in the heart suit. He leads a small heart and finesses dummy's heart ten. This risks giving East the lead and losing the contract immediately, but it must be attempted, for to give up a diamond stopper would be suicide.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: What is the correct response to an opening one heart bid with the following hand:

♠ 8 6 3 ♥ 9 5 ♦ K 10 8 6 4 3 ♣ 10 8 7

Answer: Pass.

Sally's Guests Will See Cubs Play July 29

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Everybody's talking about baseball these days, and the progress of the Chicago Cubs is causing all sorts of excitement. The team has been playing such swell baseball that business is rushing out at Wrigley Field whenever they're in town, so any child who wins an invitation to my next party can consider himself fortunate. Mr. Wrigley knows how much you youngsters love the game, so he has invited us to see the Cubs play Brooklyn on July 29.

Here's your opportunity to see a lot of your heroes, boys and girls. If you'd like to watch your old friend "Gabby" Hartnett in action, better see if you can't win an invitation to this party. I'm going to take the usual number of 50 boys and 50 girls, and I'm sure there will be a heavy mail. Naturally, I'm going to try to select the youngsters who'll have the best time at the game, so if you're a real Cub fan and want to come you'd better sit right down and write the best letter you know how. Just tell me why you'd like the party.

If you're to be a winner you must be sure to include your full name, address, and your age, and your letter must reach me by next Thursday morning. You must write it yourself, and, remember, don't ask for invitations for your pals. These are the only rules.

If you want to be my guest, don't wait too long before you write your letter to Sally Joy Brown, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago.

What Girl Can Frown Upon a Floral Gift?

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"I would like to find out if it is proper to send flowers to a girl I once loved and still love, for that matter. We were pals for two years. Then some queer thing happened between us. We didn't fight outright but just drifted apart. I was to blame, no doubt, because of a second girl entering on the scene and because I used her as a pretext of interest since I was afraid that my first and only love was falling for another fellow. But she still is the one I can't forget. Yet I feel she will think I am goofy sending her flowers when we have been apart so long.

"A difference in nationality but not in faith caused her parents' objections to me and I think this is what is behind the separation really, much more than our silly antics about someone else."—Lovelorn Mike.

Well, Mike, we never have heard of a woman's feelings being hurt by a flower message. And we have heard of a number of instances in which the tender message bearer, be it an orchid, a dozen of her favorite roses, or any other flower choice, worked the type of miracle we know you hope for, Mike. Flowers are pretty nearly the foolproof gift. Even though the girl may be tied up by now with some one else, the flowers still would be not amiss. She would appreciate the compliment of being thought of as an old friend who could not be easily forgotten.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Having seen the little rubber gadgets which were created to make toe-tinting less perilous we feel that our life is complete. Life can't be complicated or serious when such things as these occupy the time of an inventor. They're a hilarious contribution to the life beautiful!

Have you seen them? They're of soft red rubber—with four spaced teeth rising up from a flat strip. When you come to that point in your beautifying routine when you reach for the bottle of nail enamel and proceed to paint your toenails redder than the rose, you slip your toes into the gadget and leave the foot in position until the polish dries.

You can walk across the room, if necessary, without marring the polish. And your toes won't wiggle, so you get the polish on evenly. There are probably other reasons for the existence of these divinely silly gadgets but why should we think them up? They're such fun in themselves that if you're the sort of woman who takes your tinting seriously you'll need no selling talk from us.

Personally, we're glad we lived to see the day when a waiting world was given protection against spilled pedicure polish! Any one who loves a laugh at the queer ways of this world would adore these.

And, speaking of pedicures and polishes, we'd like to make a plea for better looking feet. If you ask us, these toeless sandals and sheer hose are pretty merciless unless the feet are good to look at. Foot beautification should start with the chiropodist. Pedicuring can come later. It takes a lot more than nail polish to make an abused, misshapen foot look pretty! Paint doesn't cover a multitude of foot sins. ELEANOR NANGLE.

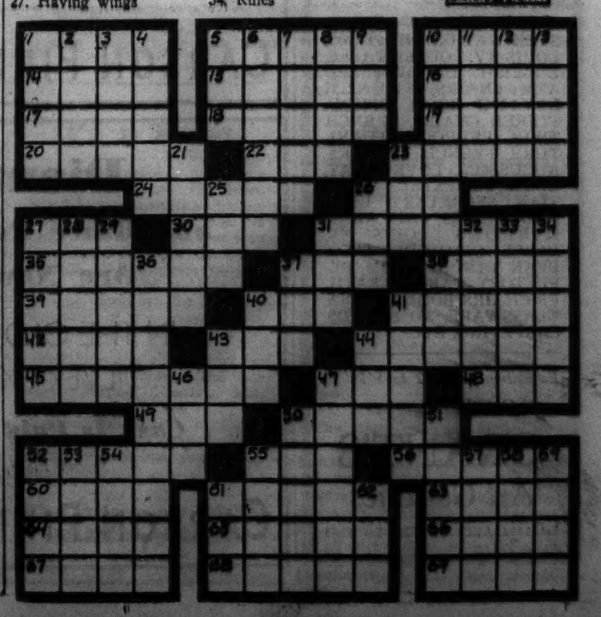
SATURDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



A BILLION FISH! IT'S WISCONSIN'S 1937 PLANTING

20 Million Little Muskies Help Set Record.

BY BOB BECKER.

The department of conservation of Wisconsin is sitting back with a smile of contentment these days since it has hung up a record of planting one billion fish in the lakes and streams of that state. This department has heard of no other state undertaking any such pretentious program.

Just about every kind of fish from a bluegill to muskie has been included in this huge program to keep the fishing game on the upgrade. The hatchery experts figure that to get one billion fish for planting they had to work with an extra 1,000,000 fish eggs because state hatchery averages run around 90 per cent.

20 Million Muskies.

One of the things that gave the Wisconsin hatcheries workers their biggest thrill in planting one billion fish was their success with muskellunge. From a difficult beginning that required much experimenting and resulted in many a disappointment, the muskie hatching business finally reached a real peak this year when the department of conservation was able to put 20,000,000 muskies in Wisconsin waters.

We can remember the first season when a serious effort was made to raise muskies under artificial conditions. That year we visited the Woodruff hatchery to see the eggs brought in for development. In the fall we returned to the hatchery to look at the 6, 7, and 8 inch muskies that had been grown in small ponds. If our memory is correct there were just a few thousand of these highly prized fish to be planted in lakes. That fall we helped sein some of them and carry them to waters where they were planted. At that time the wiseacres were shaking their heads and saying it couldn't be done because the problem of feeding young muskies was a difficult one.

And Plenty of Walleyes.

Now the department of conservation reports 20,000,000 raised in hatcheries for this year's restocking program. That tells the story of how the fisheries division, directed by B. O. Webster, has been able to overcome mechanical and scientific problems in order to hatch millions of muskies.

The walleyed pike leads the list of species planted by Wisconsin this season. Hundreds of millions of these fish have been put into Wisconsin lakes and rivers this year. The trout fishermen ought to be cheered by the figures on brooks, rainbows and browns. In round numbers about 50,000,000 trout are being added to Wisconsin streams.

U. OF I. HAS TWO BUILDINGS FOR SALE OR GIFT

University of Illinois officials announced yesterday that they have a couple of college buildings for sale—that they might even give the buildings away if the right person happened along.

They want some one who'll demolish the buildings and remove them. One for sale is the old dental building, a six story structure which has three amphitheaters, a clinical operating room, an infirmary, recitation rooms, and offices. It will be abandoned this fall for new quarters.

The other building is the old medical building. It has laboratories, lecture rooms, offices, and an assembly hall seating 700. It has been vacant for some time.

SNITE NURSES BACK

(Story in adjoining column.)

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Two more of the Snite nurses who spent vacation in east were Nora Chin (left), and Marguerta Bao. Some of the young women will study nursing in America before their return home.

KIN OF HOUSE FLY FATAL TO GRASSHOPPERS

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 18.—(AP)—A fly known as sarcophaga kellyi is proving itself a stalwart ally in Colorado's war on grasshoppers.

Sarcophaga Kellyi.

Mortal insect enemy of the grasshopper, this near cousin of the common house fly may speed materially annihilation of the pests now ravaging ranges and fields in the state's worst infestation since 1880.

While an experiment in spreading poison bait by airplane is to be attempted near Fort Morgan Tuesday, the effectiveness of sarcophagakellyi aerial onslaught is proved, Entomologist Sam C. McCampbell said today.

Darting after grasshoppers in flight, the fly deposits its eggs on their bodies, usually right beneath the wings. In a few days the maggot devours its way inside the grasshopper's body.

Baby Suffocated as Mother Cares for Ailing Husband

While his mother nursed his father, ill in the next room, Joseph Gerth, four months old, became entangled last night in his covers. The infant was found suffocated in his crib in the home at 2302 North Leavitt street when his mother, Mrs. Teral Gerth, went in later to see if he was comfortable.

FIVE OF SNITE'S CHINESE NURSES TO STAY AWHILE

After learning more of the new world science which made possible the perilous 9,300 mile trip of Frederick B. Snite Jr., home from China, five of the eight Chinese nurses who accompanied the boy in the iron lung to Chicago will go back to their own people. But not, four of them indicated last night, until they have learned more of that science.

The shy little nurses who learned their English from young Snite during the 15 months they tended him in Peiping are losing one of their number at every turning.

When they arrived in Chicago June 23, still caring for young Snite, helpless in the artificial respirator which breathes for him, there were eight. Together, they were to have a two weeks' vacation in America, the gift of young Snite's grateful father.

One Drops from Ranks.

But Lucy Wu dropped from their ranks two weeks ago to enroll as a postgraduate student at the Cook county hospital school of nursing.

Ten days ago the remaining seven set out for New York.

And when they got ready to leave New York yesterday Liu Mei-Chin announced she was staying there as nurse in a New York hospital.

This left six. But suddenly Huang Tuan-Chen and Wang Ai-Lan said they were going to stay on to visit. Maybe for a month, maybe for longer. They didn't know.

Four Back on Plane.

Thus it was that only four nurses stepped off a plane into the Municipal airport last night, to deny, quickly, that they are leaving America soon.

"Going back to China now?" repeated smiling, alert Marguerta J. Bao. "Oh, no. I am going to the Northwestern university school of physio-therapy to learn more. I'm not a nurse. I'm a physio-therapist. I gave Freddie his treatments. I'm going on a Snite scholarship."

Bernice Pi, who carried an enormous paper parcel which she revealed contained a large American doll, also is staying on. She will be a nurse at Augustana hospital. So will P. K. Wang. And Nora Chin, the eighth, will stay a while, too.

In a series of brilliant races yesterday afternoon at Whealan pool five boys and five girls won gold medal awards of supremacy in swimming 100 yards. These ten championship events climaxed two hours of competition which concluded the eighth annual meet sponsored by THE TRIBUNE.

Several thousand spectators, all of whom could gain a view of the races from behind the wire fence which surrounds the forest preserve district pool, watched the program. They also saw an exhibition of high board diving by Jane Fauntz Manske, one of Chicago's greatest athletes who, in 1932, won third place in the Olympic competition at Los Angeles.

Championships never have been more widely distributed, although Chicago's Lake Shore Athletic club won both team trophies. It was the first time any club has achieved a double victory. Madison Athletic club won the girls' team trophy last year while Jackson Natatorium won the boys' cup.

Peoria Swimmers Second.

Country Club of Peoria [Ill.] finished second in both divisions for team honors. Danny Anderson, second in class B and Richard Anderson, second in class C, accounted for Peoria's 6 points. Lake Shore's 15 points were the result of championships in classes C, D, and E, which were won, respectively, by Otto Jaretz Jr., Arthur Ebeling and Jay G. Brown.

The fight for the girls' trophy was closer. In this division Natalie Rogers, winner in class A, and Harriett Vance, winner in class D, scored 10 points for Peoria. Lake Shore girls, however, also won two titles and Muriel Berndt's second place in class E provided the necessary points for victory. Jayne Stockrod of Bloomington, Ill., won the senior championship. Her Lake Shore teammate, Mary Jane Wichser, captured the 100 yard title in class B for girls 13 and 14 years of age.

Helen Whyte of Kenosha, Wis., won the gold medal in class C. Silver and bronze medals were awarded to all finalists finishing second and third. In addition, all qualifiers were awarded gold medals. One hundred and ninety-two of these special prizes were presented yesterday to contestants who previously had qualified in the trials at Cermak pool, Sherman park, Whealan pool, and California park last week, and to those who took their preliminary yesterday at Whealan pool.

A Close Battle.

The battle for victory in the girls' division of class D probably was the closest race in the meet. Both Miss Vance, the winner, and Betty Wyle of Lake Shore Country club had won championships in younger age classes. Each is under 17 years of age, the minimum age for class D, but by the rules of the meet could not compete again in the lower age class.

Miss Vance qualified for the semi-finals in the preliminaries which preceded the championships. In the semi-finals she won the first heat in 1:13.3. Miss Wyle was winner in the second semi-finals in 1:10.6. Then came the championship. The girls swam stroke for stroke across the 50 yard course, turned together, and raced back apparently on even terms. In the last few strokes, however, Miss Vance gained a slight advantage and her hand touched the edge of the pool a

RADCLIFF'S HIT WINS OPENER IN TENTH, 6 TO 5

Stratton Shuts Out Boston, 1-0.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Thirty thousand fans, mostly hollering White Sox partisans, yesterday saw a great variety of good baseball as they watched the Chicagoans beat the Red Sox, 6 to 5 in a 10 inning slugging bee, then stuck around to witness a fine 1 to 0 pitching duel between Monty Stratton and Archie McKain, in which the former triumphed for Chicago on a three hit performance.

The double spanking made it three straight lickings for the luxurious Bostonese in the series which ends with a single game this afternoon. The Red Sox, who came to town in second place, at sundown found themselves deep in fourth place.

The White Sox gained a half game on the first place Yanks, and fortified their hold on second place by gaining a half game on the third place Tigers.

There Are Heroes Aplenty.

Three White Sox—Clint Brown, Zeke Bonura, and Rip Radcliff—with Luke Sewell a runnerup, were the standouts in the first game. Brown's relief work in the tenth was magnificent. With the White Sox leading, 5 to 4, by virtue of two runs in the eighth, Ted Lyons got off to a bad start in the ninth because of singles by Joe Cronin and Pinky Higgins. Brown entered the arena at this point and made Jimmy Foxx lift a fly to right, but it plunked for a single when Dixie Walker, despite heavy glasses, lost the ball in the sun. This filled the bases with none out. Despite this distressing state of affairs Clint stayed right in there and held the Bostons to one run.

The hero roles of Bonura and Radcliff were widespread. Zeke drove in the first of three runs the White Sox made in the first inning with a double, the first of his four hits, and Ripper drove in the other two. After the Red Sox had tied the score in the fourth on Ben Chapman's homer with two on and had gone ahead on Foxx's homer in the seventh, the White Sox made two runs in the eighth. The runs were scored by Bonura, who had knocked his second double, and Radcliff who had walked. Zeke scored on a pinch fly by Mule Haas and Rip scored on a single by Sewell.

The Climax Twins.

But Zeke and Rip weren't through with their heroics. Bonura opened the tenth with his fourth hit, a single, went to second on a passed ball and scored the winning run when Radcliff, after two failures to bunt, singled along the right foul line.

The second game afforded Stratton his 12th victory and fourth shutout of the year. He allowed only three hits, a single by Colonel Mills with two out in the third, a single by Foxx after Cronin and Higgins had struck out in the seventh, and another single by Mills, which led off the ninth. Neither Mills nor Foxx got to second base.

The contest might be going yet but for Fabian Gaffke's error, which permitted the game's lone run to score after two were out in the sixth. Gaffke was in the game as a substitute for Chapman, the irascible, who got bounced again on the second day of his reinstatement after trying to assault Umpire Quinn last week.

McKain held the Sox to five hits in suffering his first defeat of the season. He previously had won four games.

FIRST GAME

The White Sox scored three runs and made six hits before the Red Sox got a runner on first base in the first game. The three runs and half of the hits were made in the first inning. Hayes opened the Sox offensive by bouncing a single over Newsom's head and Kreevich walked. Walker flied to Mills, but Bonura doubled to right, scoring Hayes and Kreevich being halted at third by a ground rule when Zeke's shot bounced into the boxes. Radcliff lined a single to center, scoring Kreevich and Bonura.

Lyons Meets Trouble.

All this White Sox edge, accumulated while Lyons was retiring the Red Sox in order in the first three innings, was wiped out before a putout was accomplished in the fourth inning. Mills won the distinction of being the first of the Bostonese to reach first when he opened the fourth with a single to center. Cramer walked, then Chapman smacked his No. 2 homer of the year, scoring Mills and Cramer. Hayes threw out Cronin and, after Higgins had bounced a single through Dykes, Foxx popped to Bonura and McNair grounded to Hayes.

Sox Take Lead.

The Red Sox went ahead at the outset of the seventh. It was at this juncture that Foxx socked his No. 18 atop the left field grand stand.

Here's the detail of the manner in which the White Sox went ahead to stay with two runs in the eighth. Walker led off with a fly to Mills, but Bonura

MOVIE COLONY JOINS ALL-STAR FOOTBALL VOTE

Hollywood Stars Support Rose Bowl Players.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., July 18.—The movie colony today joined the nation's football fans in casting ballots in the poll to name the College All-American team which will meet the Green Bay Packers, world's professional champions, in the fourth annual All-Star game at Soldiers' field, Chicago, Sept. 1.

Selecting opposition for the strong Packers, who for several years have displayed their tricky offense on the Pacific coast, were Fred MacMurray, Victer McLaglen, Clarke Gable, Warner Baxter, George Raft, Randolf Scott, and Harold Lloyd.

Kuhn Is Picked.

Lloyd's team:
ENDS—Kelley, Yale, and Tinsley, Louisiana State.
TACKLES—Widseth, Minnesota, and Hamrick, Ohio State.
GUARDS—Schreiber, Northwestern, and McGinnis, Nebraska.
CENTER—Kuhn, Southern California.
QUARTER BACK—Goddard, Washington State.
FULL BACK—Francis, Nebraska.

ENDS—Tinsley, Louisiana State, and Carroll, Southern Methodist.
TACKLES—Widseth, Minnesota, and Daniell, Pittsburgh.
GUARDS — Starcevich, Washington, and Bassi, Santa Clara.
CENTER—Kuhn, Southern California.
QUARTER BACK—Goddard, Washington State.
HALF BACKS—Cain, Washington, and Meyer, Army.
FULL BACK—Francis, Nebraska.

MacMurray Picks Jankowski.

ENDS—Kelley, Yale, and Presler, Tulane.
GUARDS—Glassford, Pittsburgh, and Bassi, Santa Clara.
CENTER—Svendsen, Minnesota.
QUARTER BACK—Baugh, Texas Christian.
FULL BACK—Jankowski, Wisconsin.

Four midwestern players were picked by Raft. They are Larry Danbom, Notre Dame full back; Ed Widseth, Minnesota tackle; Julie Alfonse, Minnesota half back, and Lloyd Cardwell, Nebraska half back. Raft's squad is:
ENDS—Kelley, Yale, and Stromberg, Army.
TACKLES—Widseth, Minnesota, and Daniell, Pittsburgh.
GUARDS — Starcevich, Washington, and Pierce, Fordham.
QUARTER BACK — Davis, Southern California.
HALF BACKS — Alfonse, Minnesota, and Cardwell, Nebraska.
FULL BACK—Danbom, Notre Dame.

Sam Francis, Nebraska's great full back, was named on the teams selected by Gable, Baxter, and McLaglen. McLaglen, who conducts professional football games at his own sports stadium in Hollywood, picked Jimmy Cain, Washington's fleet ball carrier, and Ozzie Simmons of Iowa as the best half backs in America. Their teams follow:

Gable's selections:
ENDS—Kelley, Yale, and Tinsley, Louisiana State.
TACKLES—Hamrick, Ohio State, and Widseth, Minnesota.
GUARDS—Bassi, Santa Clara, and Reid, Northwestern.
CENTER—Kuhn, Southern California.
QUARTER BACK—Baugh, Texas Christian.
FULL BACK—Francis, Nebraska.

ENDS—Tinsley, Louisiana State, and Kelley, Yale.
TACKLES—Widseth, Minnesota, and Kopczak, Notre Dame.
CENTER—Kuhn, Southern California.
QUARTER BACK — Goddard, Washington State.
HALF BACKS—Meyer, Army, and Haines, Washington.
FULL BACK—Francis, Nebraska.

McLaglen's squad:
ENDS—Tinsley, Louisiana, and Kelley,

Noble Kizer, Purdue Coach, Is Seriously Ill

Lafayette, Ind., July 18.—[Special.]—Noble E. Kizer, Purdue athletic director and head football coach, was taken to a hospital today for observation when he showed symptoms of a nephritic condition. He was semi-conscious and in an admittedly serious condition.

In recent months he apparently had been in good physical condition after an extended siege of illness that sent him to the Mayo clinic early in the year.

Noble Kizer.

Inspects Athletic Plant.

Kizer was stricken early this morning. Last night he had driven about the campus to inspect the progress being made on the new men's field house and gymnasium, and retired early, complaining of a headache.

Dr. Charles E. Emerson of Indianapolis was called into consultation on the case this afternoon.

Kizer, one of Notre Dame's original watch charm guards and a member of the Four Horsemen team in 1924, came to Purdue in 1925 as assistant coach to James Phelan. When Phelan resigned in 1929 to go to the University of Washington, Kizer was made head coach. In 1933 he was named athletic director to succeed Col. N. A. Kellogg.

Born at Plymouth.

Kizer is a native of Plymouth, Ind., where he starred in basketball and in track. When a junior in high school he joined the marines and returned to Plymouth in 1919 to complete his high school course. He enrolled at Notre Dame, where he earned a varsity berth in football in 1922, his sophomore year, and starred in basketball. He captained the basketball team his senior year and was considered by many coaches to be better in this sport than in football, where he was one of the outstanding guards in the country for two years.

After four exceptionally successful seasons at Purdue, Kizer was named coach of the first All-Star team by the fans of the nation in 1934 and led the All-Americans to a scoreless tie with the Chicago Bears at Soldiers' field.

CUBS HOLD LEAD; ROOT SAVES 7-6 VICTORY IN FIRST

Davis Triumphs Easily in Second Game, 9-4.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 18.—The Cubs had their bats swinging with deadly accuracy today and the potency of the swings enabled them to keep their three point hold on first place. In the first half of a double-header before 18,500 they bowled over the Dodgers, 7 to 6. They repeated in more emphatic fashion, 9 to 4, in the second game, thus preventing themselves from being run down by the Giants, who administered a double lashing to the Cardinals.

Acting Manager Gabby Hartnett was forced to put another severe strains on his wabbly pitching staf. Le Roy Parmelee, given a handsome lead in the first game, weakened in the eighth inning and blew in the ninth. Clyde Shoun came to the rescue, but old Charley Root was back in action to save a one run margin in the ninth. In the second game Curt Davis went to the finish in his second start.

Who Is This Mungo?

The Cubs made their initial charge against the usually sturdy Van Lingle Mungo, hammering him for three runs in the first inning of the first game, and he beat a hasty retreat. They made it 4 to 0 on Augie Galan's homer off Roy Henshaw in the fifth. Parmelee was nicked for a pair of runs in the home sixth. The Cubs recovered these when Ken O'Dea hit a homer with one on against Henshaw in the sixth. And in the ninth Frank Demaree, with his fourth hit of the game, drove in what proved to be the winning run.

Fred Frankhouse, Waite Hoyt, the patriarch, and George Jeffcoat, who also was hammered at the finish of the first game, took turns having their teeth jarred loose in the second battle. Frankhouse allowed only three Cubs to score in five innings, but they gave him a genuine salute in the sixth, and before Hoyt could restore order five runs had scored.

All the Cubs hit in the second game. In the opener Rip Collins and the three pitchers were the only ones to miss. Galan notched a homer and a double in each game. In the second game Billy Herman added two doubles and a single to a previous double off Mungo. Demaree got four hits in the opener.

FIRST GAME

Mungo got into difficulties with the first batter in the opening game and he remained in that fix until removed shortly thereafter. Galan led off with a double against the 297 foot right

Snyder Wins Fair Grounds Auto Feature

Jimmy Snyder of Chicago, thwarted by mechanical trouble with victory in sight in previous races, yesterday kept his car going at top speed from start to finish and won the feature 25 mile race at the Fair Grounds speedway before a crowd of 13,000.

Jimmy Snyder.

Billy Winn of Detroit took second place, Tommy Hinnerschitz of Langhorn, Pa., was third; Frank Wearne of Los Angeles, fourth, Ted Horn of Los Angeles, fifth; Emil Andres of Chicago, sixth, and George Connors of Los Angeles, seventh. The time for the 25 miles around the half mile dirt track was 24 minutes, 9.70 seconds.

Second for Snyder.

Snyder's victory was his second of the day. He won an earlier 25 lap event. However, he trailed Ted Horn across the finish line in a five mile preliminary and also was beaten by Rex Mays of Glendale, Cal., in the special five mile match race. Mays was forced out of the 25 mile event by motor trouble on his fourth lap.

In the feature race Snyder assumed the lead at the outset and held it until the 30th lap where Andres pulled up on even terms on the west turn and managed to go ahead after their cars scraped sides. Andres clung to his advantage with Hinnerschitz taking second position and Snyder falling back to third on the 35th lap.

Andres Drives on Flat.

FIRST RACE [five miles]—Won by Tony Willman, Milwaukee; Mauri Rose, Detroit, second; Bob Sall, Paterson, N. J., third; Frank Bailey, Paterson, N. J., fourth; Frank Beeder, St. Louis, fifth. Time, 4:54.02.

field wall and went to third on Hack's single to left. Mungo hit Collins as a quick way of filling the bases but Demaree grounded into a double play, Galan scoring. Herman made up for this with a double to right, Hack counting. O'Dea's single to center scored Herman with the third run so Henshaw was summoned and the fun stopped.

Parmelee yielded one hit an inning until the fifth when two Dodgers scored. Brown opened by beating out a bunt. Henshaw flied to center, but singles by Stripp and Hassett loaded the bases. Manush, the ex-American leaguer, whistled a single past Collins to score Brown and Stripp and put Hassett on third. Then Phelps flied to Galan and Hassett tried to score, but was doubled at the plate on Galan's throw to O'Dea.

This Is Better.

Parmelee's lead was restored to comfortable proportions in the sixth. Demaree led off with a single to center, after Herman had flied to left. O'Dea slapped one of Henshaw's pitches to the top of the score board in right center. The ball remained on the ledge for a home run. That put the Cubs in front, 6 to 2.

Herman booted Phelps' grounder with one out in the eighth. Lavagetto singled into center and Phelps took third. Bucher singled past Collins, Phelps scoring and Lavagetto scored on Cooney's force of Bucher at second.

Galan started the ninth with a pass, moved to second on Hack's bunt and to third on Collins' grounder to Hassett. Demaree's fourth single of the game accounted for a run.

Parmelee Has to Leave.

Parmelee lasted long enough in the home ninth to walk Winsett, who batted for Jeffcoat, and surrender a single to Stripp. Winsett went to third on the hit and Galan threw there instead of to second, giving Stripp time to race to second. Shoun replaced Parmelee and on the first pitch. Hassett singled to center, Winsett scoring. Stripp counted on Manush's fly to Cavarretta. Phelps grounded to Collins and Root then was called in. He walked Lavagetto, but Bucher popped to Herman.

SECOND GAME

The Cubs got a run on one hit in the first inning. Galan walked and went to third on Hack's single to center. Galan scored on Collin's infield out. With two out in the Dodger half, Manush doubled off the right field barricade and scored on a single by Phelps. Lavagetto also singled but Cooney tapped to Hack.

The Dodgers went ahead in the second. Winsett walked and Brown singled. They moved up on Frankhouse's bunt. Stripp popped to short left and Jurges could have made the catch easily. Galan called for the play, but after chasing the ball almost to the edge of the grass, failed to reach it, Winsett scoring.

Cubs Tie It in Fourth.

The Cubs tied it in the fourth. Herman doubled, Hartnett fanned and Jurges singled to score Herman. Cavarretta walked. Davis bunted a fly to Frankhouse, who dropped the ball purposely and threw out Davis at first. By this time both Jurges and Cavarretta were at second. Hassett threw to Frankhouse, who was close to third. That sent Jurges back toward second and Cavarretta toward first. Frankhouse threw to the latter but the throw was wild. Jurges started for the plate but was nailed, Hassett to Phelps.

A walk to Galan and his steal of second helped the Cubs to a 3 to 2 lead in the fifth. He went to third on Hack's tap to Hassett and scored while Collins was being retired in the same way.

This Rally Clinches It.

The Cubs got five in the sixth after two were out. Cavarretta doubled to left and scored on Davis' single. Galan doubled to right and a pass to Hack loaded the bases. Collins smashed a single past Hassett, Davis and Galan scoring. Frankhouse was removed for Hoyt, who reloaded the bases by walking Demaree. Herman doubled to right, Hack and Collins counting. Hartnett, who had made the first out of the inning, also made the third on a grounder to Brown.

In the sixth, Phelps doubled to left and Lavagetto was called safe on a tap to Hack and Collins, thinking the man was out, made a nonchalant throw to Hack at third. The ball went wild, Phelps scoring and Lavagetto going to second. The rest of the inning was quiet.

Twin Star Is First Home at SheridanShore

Windjammers of three clubs held races off Belmont and Wilmette harbors yesterday. The 10 meter cutter Revenge, the Star sloop Twin Star, and the Snipe sloops, Christina and Silver Hind, were the first to finish.

Twin Star, sailed by its owner, Lockwood M. [Woodie] Pirie, won the fifth race in the Sheridan Shore Yacht club's elimination series for the Star championship regatta yesterday off Wilmette.

Revenge Has Best Time.

The Chicago Yacht club held the second of the 1937 series of three races for the commodore's cup yesterday off Belmont harbor. Revenge, sailed by its co-owner, Blair Walliser, finished in the shortest actual time over the twelve mile course. Its time was 1 hour 33 minutes 21 seconds. Due to the fact that races for the commodore's cup are on time allowance the winning yacht will not be announced by Race Committee Chairman Byron Willie until the handicaps have been secured.

Bill Park sailed his Silver Hind to victory yesterday morning in the Snipe class race off Wilmette. His time for the five mile course was 1:43:45. Summaries:

PRICE CHARGES AGAINST WARD, KRAFT DROPPED

Big Companies Win in Patman Case.

Washington, D. C. July 18.—(AP)—The federal trade commission said today it had decided that companies can give discounts to big customers based on the difference in cost of selling to large and small customers.

In the first decisions under the new Robinson-Patman act outlawing certain price discriminations, the commission dismissed a case involving special discounts which Montgomery Ward & Company of Chicago received on felt base floor coverings from Bird & Son and the Bird Floor Covering Sales corporation of East Walpole, Mass.

Held Not Discriminatory.

Although other Bird customers paid more for the floor coverings than Montgomery Ward, the commission said the prices were not discriminatory because "the cost of selling to Montgomery Ward & Company was much less than to ordinary retailers."

The commission also dismissed a complaint against the Kraft-Phenix corporation, cheese company, Chicago, saying uniform discounts given quantity purchasers did not tend to create a monopoly.

Issues Two Desist Orders.

A cease and desist order, the commission said, has been issued against the Biddle Purchasing company of New York, purchasing agent for grocery and other stores. The commission said the act prohibits the payment of unearned discounts in the form of brokerage fees.

Another order forbade the Hollywood Hat company of New York from giving a special $3 to $6 per dozen discount to a buying syndicate for retail women's hat stores because the discount could not be "accounted for by differences in cost of manufacture, sale or delivery.

U. S. AGAIN MAY LEAD CANADA IN WHEAT EXPORTS

Surplus Is Indicated for This Country.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The United States may have more wheat to export this year than Canada, an unexpected reversal of the situation that has prevailed for several years. On the basis of present crop appraisals it is estimated this country will have 140 million bushels of wheat in excess of the amount needed for domestic consumption. The apparent failure of the Canadian crop suggests that the dominion's export surplus will be only about 100 million bushels.

The United States bought millions of bushels of Canadian wheat in 1935 and 1936, when crop failures made this country dependent on foreign supplies. The series of crop failures in the United States, together with short production elsewhere in the world, contributed to the prosperity of Canadian wheat growers.

Canada Sells Big Surplus.

Moreover, the Canadian wheat board was enabled to rid itself of a tremendous surplus which had threatened to be a big liability. That surplus was liquidated at high prices and saved the Canadian taxpayers from the necessity of making good a big deficit.

The misfortune of the Canadian wheat growers this season will help the United States to find foreign buyers for its prospective surplus. The outlook suggests that the world will be willing to pay a good price for every bushel of wheat that the United States can ship abroad in the next few months.

Canada will have a total wheat crop this year of only 170 million bushels, or 65 millions less than last year. The department of agriculture forecasts United States production at 882 million bushels.

STEEL OUTPUT HIGHEST SINCE STRIKES BEGAN

Resumption of full production schedule in plants made idle in May by labor difficulties boosted the operating rate of the American steel industry last week eight points to 82 per cent of ingot capacity, the best level since the strikes began, the magazine Steel reported yesterday.

The operating rate in Chicago rose 14 points to 84 per cent of ingot capacity, the publication said, while the resumptions gave Cleveland a 32 point rise to 79 per cent, Youngstown 2 to 78, Pittsburgh 21 to 88, Wheeling 14 to 91, eastern Pennsylvania 3 to 68, and Detroit 2 points to 97. New England showed the only decline, 2 points to 78, and no change was shown by Birmingham at 96 per cent, Cincinnati at 93, St. Louis at 93, and Buffalo at 88.

The snapback in production promptly after removal of the labor blockade is positive evidence of belief by steelmakers in continued strength and expectation of renewed buying after the usual summer slackness, the magazine commented. Bookings by some leading sellers, it was said, have been at only 25 to 30 per cent below the June average and considerably better than at this time last year.

The spurt in the price of scrap last week was seen as an optimistic omen for the industry.

Great Lakes Shipping Is Heaviest Since 1929

Buffalo, N. Y., July 18.—(AP)—Great Lakes freighters, waiting at docks to be unloaded, reflected tonight the greatest amount of activity along the waterfront in the last six years. Steamship company officials, eying the great number of vessels and their volume of cargo, said business this year was the best since 1929. Officials of one company [Detroit and Cleveland] said the line was carrying 10 per cent more automobiles by boat this year than last, and said the 1929 high probably would be surpassed.

CHICAGO BUSINESS REPORTED HOLDING GAIN OVER LAST YEAR

Chicago business last week continued to maintain its gains over a year ago, the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday. Retail turnover was particularly active, while general business sentiment in the city was helped by resumption of activity at the steel mills.

The association also reported that wholesalers continued to benefit by last minute interest in the two furniture shows and other newer commodity expositions here. Visiting buyers appeared to believe that early autumn will show as marked an upturn as the like period of last year did.

U. S. Relief Expenditures in March $201,514,798

Washington, D. C., July 18.—(AP)—The social security board reported today that federal, state, and local governments spent $201,514,798 for public relief in March, against $213,522,289 in March, 1936.

BOND MARKET TRAVELS QUIET COURSE IN WEEK

New York, July 18.—(AP)—The bond market steered a quiet course during the week, with transactions around $6,500,000. Government obligations helped to enliven lethargic midsummer dullness. Turnover in the federal list was small. Steadiness was the keynote, though some minor gains were established. Treasuries followed an even tenor, little affected by the court bill battle in the senate.

Foreign dollar obligations drew the spotlight as war clouds rolled over the orient. While Japanese troops poured into China in anticipation of possible war, Japanese loans broke sharply. Setbacks of over 2 points were incurred. A more cheerful note was sounded in South American dollar bonds. Following announcement of a currency stabilization agreement between the United States and Brazil, Brazilian issues moved to higher ground.

LACKING VIGOR, STOCK MARKET BARELY CREEPS

Political Actions Dominate Trade.

New York, July 18.—[Special.]—Shares on the New York Stock exchange in the last six trading periods continued the slight advance recorded in the preceding week, but vigor was lacking. Trading fell back to about 750,000 daily and despite efforts to energize the market, illustrated in the strong rise in United States Steel common to the highest price paid since last April, buyers were apathetic.

Irregularity characterized all five sessions and for the week as a whole stocks got nowhere. Charts showed that the week's movement was sidewise—somewhat after the manner of an apathetic crab.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE average of fifty combined stocks closed at 130.16, up 0.02 in the final short trading session. The industrial component of the index mounted 0.11 point and the rail average gained 0.07 point.

Statistical and business news of the week, as it relates to Wall street and the rest of the country, was as nothing compared with the political developments. The President's determination to drive through his court program startled the financial community and the latter part of the week was devoted largely to endeavoring to appraise this action.

Opinion at the week-end generally tended toward the belief that investors found welcome signs in the political development. There were many who heralded the "turning point." On the long range view, the seers of Wall street expressed the view that the President's uncompromising attitude will be beneficial simply because it signals his defeat.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Wheat Margin Dwindles

July 18, 1937.

There's a bit of uncertainty about how THE TRIBUNE farms are going to come out with the experiment in grain marketing. The farm has agreed to deliver 1,000 bushels of wheat at $1.08¾ cents a bushel in September. Since the deal was made there has been an upward trend in the wheat market, while black rust continues to take its daily toll. The yield has been reduced to less than half the estimated crop of 2,000 bushels made on June 21, the day the contract was made on the Chicago Board of Trade, to sell for future delivery approximately half the 1937 wheat crop.

This has been the toughest week on the $500 fund put up with a broker to cover margins. The fund continues to dwindle. A total of $191.25 have been taken out to cover margins. This represents the difference between the contract price of $1.08¾ cents and yesterday's closing price of $1.27⅞ cents a bushel.

Yield May Be Short.

The farms were willing to sell half the wheat crop at $1.08¾ cents a bushel. They were sure of getting that amount for half the crop, provided the whole crop totaled 2,000 bushels. The outlook today is for a total yield of less than 1,000 bushels. In this case there would not be enough wheat to fulfill the contract and the farms would be required to take cash wheat money to pay the difference between the contract price of $1.08¾ cents and the delivery price in September on the entire thousand bushel contract. If the total yield is not sufficient to meet the contract, the farms will actually get less than $1.08¾ cents a bushel for whatever amount they sell.

Weed Battle Is On.

The fight against noxious weeds is on at the Wheaton farm. Workmen were out last week with mowers and hand scythes, cutting Canada thistles and ragweeds in small grain fields, pastures, and along fence roads.

Canada thistles have been greatly thinned out on this place in recent years, but there still are some to be found each summer. Some seasons it is necessary to cut the thistles three times to prevent them from blooming. The fields are gone over thoroughly at least twice where scythes are used. Sometimes one cutting with a mower is sufficient if the thistles are clipped close to the ground and just before the first blooms appear.

The men have found that mowers are usually much more effective than scythes for getting rid of Canada thistles. They cut the plants lower and do a cleaner job. When thistles are cut with a scythe or hoe, many of the small plants likely are to be left unharmed while the big ones are cut away, leaving the small ones a better chance to grow. They soon grow up and form blooms unless the cutting is repeated.

Pasturing sheep in the various fields about the farm has done much to rid the place of Canada thistles and other undesirable weeds.

Loop Building.

Investors' Guide: I am the owner of a $1,000 6½ per cent leasehold bond of Loop Building corporation [Nixon building], Chicago. In 1934 I tried to sell the above and was informed it had no value. I thereupon deducted its cost from my income tax of 1934, and have now been advised the deduction is disallowed as the loss was not absolutely determined in 1934. If I am not allowed to deduct for 1934, from which year's income can the loss be deducted?—B. K.

Answer: The ground leases securing the $1,081,500 of Loop Building corporation 6½ per cent leasehold bonds were declared forfeited and canceled on Nov. 24, 1934. This action was not confirmed by the court until Jan. 28, 1936, however, and the trustee advised there were no assets for bondholders on Feb. 27, 1936. It would appear, therefore, that your loss should have been taken for the year 1936.

Ohio Telephone Service.

Investors' Guide: What value does stock of Ohio Telephone Service company have at present? Prior to 1932 it paid a dividend of 6 per cent. Have there been regular payments of $60 a year per $1,000 from 1932 to 1937? G. K.

Answer: The company has paid interest regularly on its 6 per cent mortgage bonds which are quoted at about par. We assume you refer to the bonds, inasmuch as dividends on the preferred stock are on a 7 per cent basis and there is no regular rate on the common.

Dividend Not Yet Due.

Investors' Guide: I think Belding Heminway paid a 50 cent dividend about July 1. I bought stock May 3, but have received no dividend. If I am entitled to a dividend, which I think I am, to whom should I write? B. B.

Answer: A dividend of 25 cents a share will be paid July 31 to stockholders of record June 21. You should receive the payment.

Alto Gasoline & Oil.

Investors' Guide: Will you please furnish a report on Alto Gasoline and Oil company?—W. S.

Answer: We find the following in a manual of obsolete companies: Alto Gasoline and Oil company, Fort Worth, Tex. Texas charter forfeited for nonpayment of taxes July 2, 1920.

TWILIGHT FALLS ON COMMITTEE FOR THE NATION

Retires as Apologist for Administration.

Twilight has descended upon the committee for the Nation, the organization of industrialists whose unorthodox money theories were a decisive influence in shaping the administration's monetary policy four years ago.

P. K. Wrigley.

No longer does a manifesto by the committee precede each pronouncement of policy by the administration on monetary matters. Most of the prominent figures identified with the committee have retired as apologists of the administration. The treasury and federal reserve board are now occupied with the task of preventing the backwash of the cheap money program advocated by the committee from upsetting the economic equilibrium.

Seldom Heard From.

James H. Rand Jr. president of Remington Rand, Inc., and the scores of other prominent business leaders who associated with the group are now seldom heard from on the subject of monetary "reform." The stream of literature which emanated from the committee's headquarters in New York has dried up.

A check up of the personnel of the committee shows that few of its members are now closely affiliated with the administration, in some cases members are definitely at odds with some branches of the government.

Chairman Rand has been having difficulties with the national labor board. Others equally active in the committee's activities a few years ago appear to have withdrawn from the public arena.

Members of Groups.

The prominent middle westerners who were identified with the group included the following: Lessing J. Rosenwald, chairman, and R. E. Wood, president, Sears Roebuck & Co.; Vincent Bendix, president, Bendix Aviation corporation; Philip K. Wrigley, president William Wrigley Jr. corporation; John W. Kiser, chairman, Phoenix Manufacturing company; Henry Pope Sr., president Bear Brand Hosiery company.

The easterners, besides Rand, who sponsored the committee program included J. H. R. Cromwell, E. L. Norton, chairman, Freeport Texas corporation; Frederick H. Frazier, chairman, General Baking corporation; E. I. McClintock, Bayer company; C. T. Revere, Munds, Winslow & Potter; Farny R. Wurlitzer, president, Rudolph Wurlitzer Manufacturing company.

Brings Unwanted Gold.

The accumulation by the United States of considerably more than half of the world's supply of monetary gold has been one of the unexpected consequences of the devaluation of the dollar which was urged by the committee. Even the 40 per cent devaluation effected by the Roosevelt administration was not as drastic as that advocated by the committee. It had urged that the dollar be slashed the full 50 per cent authorized by congress.

As late as March, 1935, the committee recommended a further debasement of the dollar on the theory that the nation was confronted with a new "crisis."

Continental Steel Second Quarter Profit Increases

Net profit of the Continental Steel company, Kokomo, Ind., for the second quarter was $255,175, equal after preferred dividends to $1.05 a share on the common stock, while net profit for the first six months was $534,622 equal to $2.23 a share, D. A. Williams, president, reported yesterday. In the second quarter of 1936 profit was $238,339, or 96 cents a share, and for the first half of 1936 profit was $325,618, equal to $1.17 a share.

TO speed the day when you will be back on the pay roll follow the help wanted ads in the Tribune.

The Tribune today, as for many years, is recognized by both employers and job seekers as the midwest's most satisfactory employment market.

Employers and employment agencies are making increased use of the Tribune's help wanted columns. They placed 37% more help wanted advertising in the Tribune during the first six months of 1937 than they did in the same months last year.

Job seekers prefer the Tribune because they know that the Tribune's strict advertising regulations protect them from exploitation.

Read the help wanted ads in today's Tribune. The offer which will put you in the job you want may be among the jobs listed!

Railroad Strikes.

Unlike other industries, where employés may close down operations of plant overnight by strikes, the railroad industry is protected by law from hasty action. The railroad labor act of 1920, revamped in 1926, provides machinery to allow mature consideration and prevent spasmodic snarling of the nation's transportation system.

If employés of a railroad feel justified in striking they must first so signify by a strike vote. Their unions then set a date for the strike. The railroads immediately call upon the national mediation board, composed of three members, which attempts to compose the differences of the two groups without resorting to a strike. If the board fails, then the case goes to the President of the United States. He appoints a fact finding board of three members, which makes an impartial study and reports its findings to the chief executive, with recommendations for action.

The President may keep the report for 30 days without announcing a decision, during which period neither side can take action. The theory for the delay is that during this interval the public will be acquainted with the facts of the dispute and will lend its support to the "right" side

If, at the end of the 30 day period, the unions still wish to strike, they may do so. Should the unions so desire, they are legally in a position to call a strike whenever they desire. But they seldom risk public disapproval by striking, when machinery exists to avert strikes. If the provisions of the labor act are followed many months elapse between the time when the strike clouds gather and the time when the storm breaks. During this interval, differences usually can be patched up.

Tomorrow: Railroad Unions.

Miscellaneous.

MEN—

WE HAVE 10 OPENINGS IN OUR CHICAGO BRANCH OFFICES FOR MEN WHO ARE QUALIFIED TO LEARN HOW TO SUCCESSFULLY REPRESENT THIS COMPANY.

These positions are genuine opportunities at high earnings for those who can do this kind of work successfully. Our successful men make from $4,000.00 to $10,000.00 or higher a year. These men make this money regularly. There are no off-seasons. These incomes in cash are just as certain and stable as any business or professional positions possibly can be. No cost or investment. Good commission and bonus.

Those who are inexperienced in specialty sales work may take the necessary time to learn and acquire skill. During this time they must be willing and satisfied to get along on nominal earnings of $125.00 to $200.00 per month if necessary. We cannot tell you how long it will take you to do this—whether one month or six months—but we do know that if you have the qualifications to satisfy our requirement to secure a position with us, you can, with reasonable study, practice good character, and diligence, be genuinely assured of making a success which will afford you the higher incomes.

We are not looking for the "smart" fellow, the "clever" talker, or the so-called "high pressure artist." We are interested in the earnest, sincere man, no matter what his previous experience or training, who is willing to follow instructions and has formed the habit of doing a real day's work as a matter of course and not as a matter of exception. To such men, this amazing specialty is beyond doubt one of the really great opportunities of all time in electrical unit specialty sales work. Last year was our largest year in point of gain over the eighth consecutive record sales year. If you feel qualified, apply for personal interview with branch manager Monday, July 19, between 8:30 a. m. and 11:30 a. m., at 604-20 E. Jackson Bldg., 20 E. Jackson-boulevard, Chicago.

MEN—
STEADY AND PERMANENT WORK.

We need 6 men at once. Men selected will be trained in our factory branch and put to work immediately in permanent positions; full or part time; high type men over 30 preferred as these positions are responsible in our merchandising and sales departments. We require no deposit or investment, but you must be honest, reputable and able to carry details after being taught. Our methods are so unusual that training is required and applicants must be able to get along on $25 to $40 a week while training. Later, as your value to this work to your pay will be materially increased. Previous experience with electrical units unnecessary because our methods must be learned by every one at starting with us. Men selected must be willing to work hard and study for higher incomes.
Apply Suite 340, 3 W. Madison-street, Oak Park, Monday, July 19, from 10:30 a. m. to 11 a. m. only. Ask for Mr. Larsen.

WHAT KIND OF JOB ARE YOU LOOKING FOR?

Isn't a permanent position with good income and opportunity for advancement with a large company what you want? If you are a serious minded young man interested in your future and if you are 21 to 35 years of age, write us. Commonwealth Edison Company will consider you for a position in the Appliance Sales Department. If you meet with the above qualifications and if you have the right attitude, previous experience is unnecessary. The electrical business is a growing business and men in it receive good percentage plus bonus and drawing account. Apply Room 320, 140 South Dearborn-street, 9 a. m. to 11 a. m. only. See Mr. Prussing.
